TODAY'S LEGAL BATTLE MAY END SOMMERS CASE

Dismissal In Full Sought

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Crown on a point of law Tuesday scaled down its charges in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial and brought from the defence immediate indications it will move for dismissal of all remaining counts in the case.

In swift sequence these events took place in the 30-day-old trial involving former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other individuals and four companies:

NEW CODE

1. Prosecutor Victor Dryer acceded to the legal point made Monday by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson that while all eight accused are charged under the new Criminal Code which became effective in April, 1955, all the incidents involved are alleged to have occurred before that date.

2. The prosecutor introduced an amended indictment, reducing the number of charges from 38 to 25, including one instead of two counts of conspiracy and 24 instead of 36 counts of bribery.

TRANSFERRED

In addition the prosecutor transferred all the new counts to section 158 of the old Criminal Code, which was effective before April, 1955.

Mr. Justice Wilson said he did not see how the prosecutor could escape by a transfer of the charges to the old code. A man could not be held guilty for an act committed before it became punishable under law.

DISMISSAL BID

The judge will hear argument Wednesday on the new indictment when defence counsel Alfred Bull, for one, indicated he will move for dismissal "for lack of evidence."

Legal argument will revolve around the limitation section of the old code under which no sentence can be imposed for an act of bribery more than two years old. Most of the substantive offences in the Crown's case were alleged to have been committed more than two years before the date when the charges were first laid, late in 1957.

CROWN STAND

Prosecutor Dryer is expected to argue that the limitation proviso is not effective in this case.

Mr. Justice Wilson will then be faced with making a decision on the defence's submission for dismissal.

Sommers, who resigned his portfolio in 1956 when a police investigation was ordered, but is still a member of the legislature, is the central figure in the case. Charged with him are H. W. Gray, John Gray, Charles D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Services Limited, Evergreen Lumber Sales and B.C. Forest Products.

FOREST LICENCES

All have pleaded not guilty to the charges which allege a split of thousands of dollars among Sommers, H. W. Gray and Schultz in connection with issuance of forest management licences permitting certain firms to cut timber on Crown land.

Dazzling Display in City Skies

A sight not too common to Victorians was the lightning storm yesterday morning which preceded the welcome rain to end this area's 17-day dry spell. Many residents were rocked from their sleep about 1.30 a.m. by brilliant flashes and thunder claps. Colonist reporter Ted Shackleford took this unusual picture of lightning bolts.

B.C.'s centennial gift to Queen Elizabeth, the 100-foot totem pole carved by Mungo Martin at Thunderbird Park, is pictured arriving Sunday at Windsor Great Park. The totem pole will be presented formally by W. A. McAdam, agent-general for B.C., on July 19.—(AP Photofax.)

'Didn't Do Anything' Sturdy Quits Liberals

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Sturdy, once mentioned as a possible candidate for provincial leadership of the Liberal party, has quit the Liberals to return to the Conservative fold.

"I was a Conservative all my life until five years ago when I joined the Liberals," he said Tuesday. "But the Liberals didn't do anything."

Mr. Sturdy was defendant in an unsuccessful slander action brought by former lands minister Robert Sommers late in 1955.

Smartest Engineers Satisfy Survivor

Span Not Overloaded

VANCOUVER (CP)—A coroner's jury ruled Tuesday that 15 of 18 men killed a week ago in the collapse of the Second Narrows Bridge died as a result of injuries or of drowning.

The jury's verdict made no reference to the cause of the collapse of two spans of the bridge.

A survivor of the bridge collapse testified that although there were 230 tons of equipment on the end span when it fell, he didn't think it was overloaded.

ONLY WAY

James English, a job superintendent, said "as long as the smartest engineers in Canada say that's the way it should be done, I guess that's the only way to do it."

A rider attached to the verdict recommended "in time of emergency that unnecessary marine traffic be temporarily halted or diverted so that bridges do not open during rescue operations.

AMBULANCE DELAYED

The jury learned the old Second Narrows Bridge, which the new bridge was to replace, was open to marine traffic shortly after the disaster and an ambulance was delayed.

Charles Moore, timekeeper, said weekly safety meetings held by the Dominion Bridge Company were attended by all personnel and there were "very few complaints" about safety.

Gaglardi Ready To Appear at Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister Gaglardi said Tuesday all his correspondence on the Second Narrows Bridge will be made available to the royal commission of inquiry headed by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett.

"I have not been notified that I shall be wanted as a witness, but I'll be available if they want me," he added.

Chief Justice Lett said Tuesday night he hopes to set the date of the public hearings today.

Nuclear War Outdates 'Old-Fashioned Survival'

OTTAWA (CP)—George C. Fairfield (PC-Portage-Neepawa) said Monday night in the Commons he believes there is a "very real possibility" of a nuclear attack on North America within the next year.

He urged an overhaul of Canada's "old-fashioned policy of survival" in civil defence to give the militia a dominant role.

The intercontinental ballistic missile that launched Russia's first Sputnik, he said, changed the entire concept of Canada's civil defence.

The question now was not simply a matter of civilian survival. The militia would supply the discipline lacking in civilians.

Carrier Sought

Typhoid Reported In North

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—A case of paratyphoid fever has been confirmed here and three suspected cases are under isolation at hospital.

No general vaccination was being considered.

Dr. K. J. Benson, medical health officer, said he is confident the disease can be stopped quickly. Every effort was being made to detect a possible carrier. Vaccination of all those who came in close contact with the victim has been completed.

HEALTH MINISTER MARTIN

B.C. Ready To Sign Health Deal

Health Minister Eric Martin said yesterday agreement has been reached with Ottawa and the province will sign up for the national health insurance scheme "in the next few days."

Although there is not likely to be any noticeable change in the types of hospital insurance available in B.C. at present, it will mean that B.C. gains an additional $12,000,000 in federal grants this year.

It is understood the national scheme will cover diagnostic services and out-patient services as well as acute hospital care. At present the B.C. scheme covers acute cases only.

Tanker Flames Lick High Span

NEW YORK (AP)—An oil tanker and a freighter collided in the East River early today. The tanker exploded, sending flames leaping to lick at the floor of Manhattan Bridge, 100 feet above.

The two ships drifted slowly southward under the bridge while flames from blazing oil bathed the Manhattan and Brooklyn waterfronts in a brilliant light.

A photographer for the New York Journal-American died of a heart attack at the scene. He was not immediately identified. The crew from the tanker leaped overboard and struggled to reach rescue craft.

Flames from the blazing tanker, the Empress Bay, singed the under-pinning of the 57-year-old bridge and enveloped its roadway in clouds of black smoke.

The bridge connects lower Manhattan with Brooklyn, and carries subway lines as well as an automobile roadway.

The freighter, the 5,200-ton Nebraska, rammed the tanker amidships on its port side. The two ships locked together.

Berries Move By Carload

MISSION CITY, B.C. (CP)—The first straight carload of fresh raspberries to be sent from the Fraser Valley to the prairies in four years was shipped by rail Tuesday.

Strathmore

Alberta Town Ablaze

CALGARY (CP)—Fire Tuesday night threatened the whole town of Strathmore, 28 miles east of here.

Reports reaching here said the town hall, a hardware store, a church, fire hall and telephone office were either burning or threatened.

Two Calgary fire engines and Fire Chief Barney Lemieux were sent to help battle the blaze.

Communications with the town have been cut off, but fire officials here said the entire town could go up if the fire jumped the main street.

Message to John D.

De Gaulle Seeks Time To See Canada Again

PARIS (Reuters) — Premier Charles de Gaulle, in a message to Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker published yesterday said he hopes soon to have time to visit Canada.

Replying to a message from Diefenbaker, de Gaulle said:

"I was very moved by the message you sent me. You have shown, in terms that touch the hearts of all Frenchmen, the friendship which unites our two nations and the spiritual heritage that inspires it.

"Like you, I hope that our governments will be able to tighten still further the bonds useful for a better understanding by the European and North American peoples in dealing with the problems that they must face in common.

"I do not doubt that the whole Canadian nation will be happy to see France fully playing the role that is naturally hers in the world and, more specially, in the Western community in which Canada, for her part, fulfils so happily and effectively the role to which she is called.

"I thank you for your kind invitation to visit Canada where, in the hours of struggle, but also of glory, I received a welcome ever vivid in my memory. I hope that the task which I have had to assume will allow me soon the time to visit you."

MP's Civil Servant Jibe Answered

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesman for federal civil servants reacted sharply Tuesday to suggestions that some workers in the government service are loafing and sitting around on their "fannies."

The charge was made before the Commons railway committee by a government supporter, Jack Wratten (PC—Brantford).

Rebuttal outside the committee room came from William Bagnato, general secretary-treasurer of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, and Trevor Gough, executive secretary-treasurer of the Civil Service Association of Canada.

"I think Mr. Wratten is being a little facetious," said Mr. Bagnato. "Civil servants are a hard-working energetic group of employees."

Mr. Wratten had told the house he was interested in saving the taxpayers money.

"I've watched some of these people in their buildings. A lot are not working. The people of Canada expect us to save money."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MY dog knows how to spell. I found this out when, in order to avoid the pawing, tail-wagging performance that is cued in by the word "Dog," I spelled out the word in a conversation with my wife.

"Have you fed the Dee-Oh-Gee?" I inquired.

Immediately there was a scrabble of claws on linoleum, and a black dusty pad was smeared on my freshly-cleaned trousers.

The dog had apparently learned to spell by itself. And what was even more disconcerting, it had learned by the cumbersome phonetic method so frowned upon in the schools, where they bring up children to ignore the alphabet.

* * *

A few days later, there was another hideous occurrence.

Out of the radio, without any previous warning, some announcer flung the word "dogmatic." I wish I could remember who he was. It would be a pleasure to go in the studio and shake hands with a radio announcer who uses three-syllable words. A rare kind of announcer. But his name eludes me.

Anyway, as soon as our crossbred cocker-Labrador, Sachie, heard the word "dogmatic," she jumped up and began frisking around in a state of excitement.

* * *

It may have been because she was startled by hearing such an abnormally long word come out of the radio. But I prefer to think that she picked out the name of her species.

Now the two little boys have taken up the cry. "Here, Dogmatic," they lisp, and the dog wags her tail and shows signs of pleasure. They have some quaint ways, these children, dogs and radio announcers.

Moscow-Style 'Packard'

Some of the much-publicized features of Canadian and U.S.-built automobiles appear on this product of Moscow factories. It's a Tchaika, and with its wrap-around windshield, curved bumpers and massive grille it could pass as a 1956 Packard on the Canadian highway.—(CPC)

Grocer, 69, Scourge of Robbers

His Aim Still Good

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Pattitoni is a hero of Detroit's East Side again.

A small, white-haired man, Pattitoni, 69, shot and killed his second holdup man in four years at his grocery store Monday night.

As before, Dominic Stogui, 85, Pattitoni's friend for 30 years, was at hand—to help and be helped.

On June 3, 1954, Pattitoni shot one robber to death and wounded a second when they abused Sotgiu. For this Detroit police gave him their citizens' medal for valor.

"Maybe they had a right to kick me around but they had no right to hit Dominic," Pattitoni said.

Monday night's incident was markedly similar.

Two suspicious men entered, ordered beer and a soft drink. Slipping a rifle from behind his counter, Pattitoni entered the walk-in refrigerator to get the drinks.

One man slammed the door shut on him and struck Stogiu at the elderly man's attempt to intervene.

With both robbers at the cash register, Pattitoni opened fire through a ... of the cooler.

Pattitoni's aim was good. One of the two fell dead. The other fled, crawling out the door to avoid the shots.

Police identified the slain robber as Henry Hotchkiss, Jr., 36.

The famous town hall at The Hague, capital of The Netherlands, was built in 1565.

After Cool Interlude

Sun Returning To City Skies

Current refreshing change-of-pace weather may be just a brief visitor to Victoria. Experts working over charts and available information yesterday were fairly sure that the sun would be back today.

The change, heralded by a flashing, booming electrical storm, brought with it welcome rain—but not enough to ease the forest closure or to meet the needs of field crops.

Weatherman William Mackie attributed the day's weather to a "cool low," or low-pressure area of cooler temperatures. These, he said, are very erratic in behavior and consequently little is known of what they may do.

This one, he said, hung around California for some days, sent a feeler north along the coast, then moved up quickly itself. Yesterday was cloudy and showery in northern Oregon and Washington, with advance thunderstorms and showers moving into interior British Columbia.

Next phase, said Mr. Mackie, could well be a split in this "cool low," with half concentrated over the interior and the other half out over the Pacific to the west. Here, in between, we could expect more sunshine—but not all.

The electrical storm of early Tuesday disrupted individual power lines, particularly in the Royal Oak, Malahat and Prospect Lake areas. By daylight, however, power was restored by linemen.

Saanich Goes Along With Welfare Plan

Saanich has decided to go along with a new system of provincial government welfare payments to municipalities, provincial officials reported yesterday.

It now means that 61 of 66 municipalities in the province have accepted the government plan which will see grants distributed on a per capita basis with the government paying 90 per cent of the total cost.

The "holdouts" are Esquimalt, Central Saanich, and Oak Bay and two other municipalities on the mainland. Under the new scheme these municipalities will have to pay more toward welfare than before.

Driving Age Unchanged

Message to younger teenagers: The age when you can start driving a car, legally, is still 16, despite rumors that it might be raised to 18.

Motor vehicle branch spokesmen yesterday confirmed this. Only a change in the Motor Vehicle Act itself could alter the age.

So—when you're 16 (and not sooner), you may obtain your learner's licence and then, in due course and by proper procedure, your driver's licence.

Triumph at Vancouver

Tattoo Spectacle Second to None

VANCOUVER—The military splendor of 20 massed bands, marching and playing in colorful dress uniforms, unfolded here again last night as the Centennial Searchlight Tattoo held spectators spellbound during a second-night performance in Empire Stadium.

The stirring, two-hour show, to be repeated each evening until the final performance Tuesday night, is a spectacle of brilliant color and marvellous precision.

Spectators found themselves groping for adjectives like exhilarating and breathtaking and then gave up when even these seemed inadequate to describe the moving scene.

One of these was H. A. Chisholm, of 2690 Queenswood, Victoria.

"I have been privileged to witness a fabulous 'Durbar' in India, colorful mardi gras festivals in Latin America, a trooping of the colors in Aldershot," he stated, "but the great searchlight tattoo . . . is a man-made spectacle second to none anywhere in the world."

"We as Canadians may justly take pride in this achievement unparalleled in the history of our country."

Making a hit with the crowds are the HMCS Naden precision guard and the Highland Pipers.

The Naden group performed its ceremonial precision drill with split-second timing, bringing applause from the stands. Cheers greeted the Highland pipers as they marched on.

Included among the bands were the Royal Marines, their ranks as straight as a taut string, their music filling the stadium. In the centre of the Royal Marines Band were the drummers of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

At one point a colonel of the Royal Marines led the massed bands of Canada, Great Britain and the United States, then a bandmaster of the United States took over as thousands applauded.

The whole show builds up to a tremendous finale with the 900 performers massed in the centre of the stadium.

Old Scouter Of Victoria Wins Honor

Rev. Keith B. Frampton, who 40 years ago was prominently identified with Scouting in Victoria and founded the original 4th Victoria Troop, was decorated in Nottingham, England, recently with the Silver Acorn, the second highest award in the movement.

Now vicar of Farnsfield and assistant district commissioner of South Notts, he will be remembered in Victoria by many friends. A sister, Miss Dorothy Frampton, resides in the city at 63 Gorge Road.

Tories Pick Pair Going To Vancouver

Victoria Tories named two delegates and two alternates last night to attend the September convention in Vancouver where the provincial leader will be named.

Chosen at a full-house meeting in Norway House were Eric Charman, ex-president of the Victoria constituency association, and Mrs. G. T. Tierney.

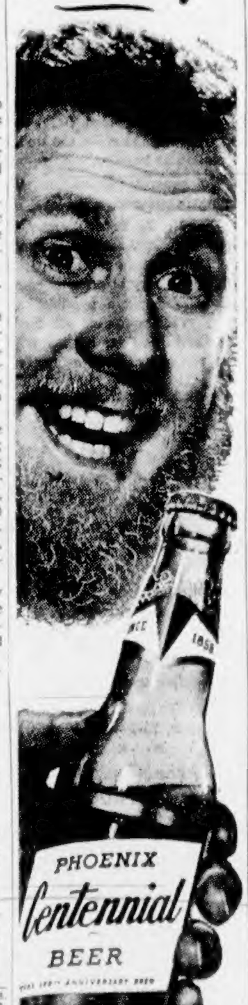

Alternates are Edmond St. Jorre and Mrs. W. A. Jones.

Gordon Elworthy, campaign manager for Conservative federal member for Victoria, A. DeB. McPhillips, in the last federal election, was named president of the Victoria association by acclamation.

Other officers elected were W. B. Monteith, vice-president; F. B. F. Nicholson, secretary; John Fox, treasurer; M. L. Tyrwhitt Drake, Robert Anderson, William Hughes, Mrs. Kathleen Stone, Frank Mulliner, Mrs. R. C. Campbell, Mrs. Isabel Mowat, Edmond St. Jorre, James Barclay, executive members.

Two ballots were necessary to elect a vice-president. The first voting resulted in a tie between Mrs. R. C. Campbell and Mrs. Monteith.

Rafael's Precocious Army Career

At Three, a Major

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr.'s personal "man-of-war" the yacht Angelita, headed out to sea yesterday with the dashing young officer's new five-star flag fluttering from one of its four masts.

It is assumed Gen. Trujillo was taking a "brief cruise" to get away from publicity stirred up by the Angelita's presence here.

Since Trujillo's vessel is designated a "man-of-war" it can come and go from the harbor as it pleases.

Just promoted to a full general by his father, Dominican strongman Rafael Trujillo, young Trujillo has had a precocious military career.

GEN. RAFAEL TRUJILLO . . . colonel at six

At the age of three, he was appointed a major in the Dominican Republic army and drew pay of $350 a month.

The boy soldier became a colonel (inactive) when he was six years old.

When 10, he was sent to a private school, then Loyola Military School in New York, and at 16 he went to the Dominican Republic army school, breezing through in one year.

Subsequent promotions were colonel (active) in 1952, major-general in 1953 and lieutenant-general in 1955.

Up Go Umbrellas

Welcome rain which fell on Victoria yesterday only helped to add to the color of city streets when pretty girls appeared with gaily-hued umbrellas. One of them was Travis Rusheon from Colorado, who is spending a holiday on Samuel Island, near Saturna Island, and was here on a shopping tour.

Fatal Patrol Exceeded Maximum

RCMP Boat Overloaded

PEFFERLAW, Ont. (CP) — A 14-foot boat that carried five RCMP officers to their deaths during a night patrol on Lake Simcoe was carrying more than 1,100 pounds including its outboard motor.

Earlier testimony was that the manufacturer rated maximum safe load at 975 pounds.

RCMP Insp. William G. Fraser of Toronto told an inquest yesterday that the five men who were drowned when their boat upset June 8 weighed 860 pounds. Earlier evidence put the weight of equipment at 121 pounds and the weight of the motor at 129 pounds for a combined burden of 1,110 pounds.

Insp. Fraser said he understood the limit did not include the motor. An opposite opinion was given Monday by another RCMP officer, Cpl. Harold Waldron. Without the motor, the load was more than 980 pounds.

Cpl. Waldon testified he considered the boat's permissible weight should include the 129-pound motor.

Viruses the Villains As Causes of Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Nobel-prize winning scientist said yesterday that recent new findings implicate viruses as the number one cause of "most kinds" of cancer.

Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, reporting at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, said that the time has come for doctors to accept the "virus theory" of cancer — even if it can't be proved beyond doubt at the moment.

The University of California scientist has devoted many years to the study of viruses — living packets of chemicals so tiny that one of them easily slips through a porcelain surface.

Some of the things now known about viruses and cancer, according to Dr. Stanley are:

Man has coursing through his unknown a few years ago. Many of these are mystery viruses, for it is not known what many of them are doing.

Viruses can persist in their hosts for generations in either infectious or non-infectious form.

Viruses can mutate — change their chemical personalities — to form new strains that cause different disease symptoms.

Viruses may have different effects, depending on the age, genetics, state of nutrition and hormonal balance of the host.

Viruses and genes (the hereditary unit within the cell) are closely related. Viruses, in fact, have been called "naked genes" and may ride as passengers in cells.

Canada's External Trading

THE most significant fact in the Dominion bureau of statistics' report for Canada's five months external trade this year was that the volume of these transactions fell by $306,600,000. Both imports and exports across the United States border declined substantially; as did the deficit balance against Canada on that account. In the same period Canada slightly increased both imports and exports in trade with the United Kingdom, and there a Canadian surplus on that account rose fractionally. The chief difference between this year and last, however, was the over-all shrinkage of the nation's external trade, measured in Canadian dollar value.

With seven months of the year remaining to be reported, what are the prospects of an over-all trade deficit of $173,600,000 being made up? Concede that the five months' deficit was $340,600,000 less than in the corresponding period last year, the shrinkage in total external trade at $306,600,000 was nearly at the same level. Canada gains from the reduction of its trade deficit with its largest customer, if only in the negative sense that this exchange was considerably less unbalanced than a year ago. But who gains in a shrinkage of total trade with external markets necessary to absorb the surplus production of the nation, and what if anything can be done about that?

Part of the drop in the value of Canadian exports to the United States was probably accounted for in the fall in prices, as for base metals and other raw materials. The reduction in imports from the same market, by $124,100,000 when compared with this period in last year, is probably the better index, because fewer price changes are likely to have affected manufactured or semi-fabricated goods which are a substantial part of our importations.

No statistics, of course, can do more than indicate a trend, by reporting the record of the past. It will be for Canadian business itself to see what can be done in the remaining half of this year. The American market may be the closest and is still the largest available to this country, but conditions under which Canadian goods can find entry there are not the same as they were a year ago. Canada increased her trade surplus with the United Kingdom between January and May this year from $67,800,000 to $69,400,000, and that was before the imposition of new tariff advances detailed in the recent budget. Outside of both these markets, however, this may be a year for Canadian business to look farther afield, not in substitution for but in support of our existing channels of trade. The Pacific region, long dormant as the result of war and post-war conditions, may hold part of the answer. Africa is still a relatively new field. Western Europe is eager for new trade.

One thing is reasonably clear. If Canada wishes to improve its trading relationships with the free world it must go after fresh opportunities with vigor and enthusiasm. We have many things to sell, if they can be delivered at competitive prices. Also we have a larger population to support, and that cannot be done on the basis of last year's record, whatever it was.

Broken Glass on Beaches

IT is hard for normal people of any age to understand the mentality of those who smash bottles and leave the jagged fragments strewn on public beaches. There is a strain of destructiveness in youngsters which most of them outgrow with the years. But surely even youths, other than low-grade morons, must know of the terrible injuries that broken bottles can inflict on bare feet and legs. Or is it that the bottle-smashers simply don't care what hurts they cause to those who come after them, usually little children?

There must be enough of these louts abroad to fill the hospital psychiatric wards, which is where they seem to belong. Broken glass is to be found on almost every lakeside and seaside beach where children go to play in summer. One day recently a group of adults filled several cartons with razor-sharp fragments of bottles from a little beach not a hundred yards long. Most of this senseless breakage was fresh, with the edges of the glass not yet worn down by sea action. Literally hundreds of bottles must have been smashed to provide so much lethal debris. Small wonder that every sunny weekend brings reports of children being rushed to hospital with severed tendons and slashed feet or legs, injuries which could cripple for life.

It isn't the glass which can be seen and avoided that causes the most danger. The snaggle-toothed remains of wantonly smashed bottles are booby-traps for anyone walking or running on a beach in bare feet because they work their way out of sight in the sand or gravel to lie in wait for any unprotected little feet that come along.

The smashing of bottles in public places is a cruel, vicious practice all the worse because of its utter senselessness. Those who do it are seldom seen in the act in daylight, which leads to the supposition that most of the damage is done after dark, when juveniles should not be roaming the beaches and parks in any case. Untidy adults who leave empty bottles behind them are partly to blame for providing ammunition, but that still is no excuse. What appears to be necessary is a much more intensive patrolling of the beaches and parks by the police, and the sternest punishment by the courts of anyone caught.

Breaking bottles and leaving the pieces on the ground isn't just mischievous: it's murderous.

Additions at College

RECENT announcement by Public Works Minister Chant of the decision to go ahead with building additions for Victoria College at an estimated cost of $250,000 was explained on the ground of the current needs of the institution. Work is to start shortly on construction of a third storey to the Ewing Building and three army huts are to be moved from Gordon Head, to provide some new student, library, laboratory and cafeteria accommodation. This program obviously is addressed to improving existing facilities at the College for present purposes, and to relieve pressure from the student numbers enrolled.

Nothing in the government's announcement gives any indication as to future plans for Victoria College, either along the lines suggested by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce or otherwise. Yet from the standpoint of future—and we believe inevitable—extension of its services to provide for the ever-growing population on Vancouver Island one of the fundamental requirements would be a suitable area in which to place an enlarged campus and additional major construction which will be needed then. Available sites are few. If action is not taken to reserve one of them it may come too late.

Interpreting the News

Sino-Russian Aims Conflict

By K. C. THALER

United Press International Writer

LONDON (UPI) — A three-cornered struggle is gaining momentum inside an increasingly divided Communist camp.

Soviet affairs experts today diagnosed unmistakable symptoms of a creeping conflict within the Soviet command, of accentuated ideological differences between Moscow and Peiping, and of an all-out fight by leaders of the "true" communism against such heretics as Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Despite iron curtain secrecy obscuring events in Moscow, Peiping and some of the satellites, latest information firmly supports earlier reports of a struggle within the Soviet hierarchy itself.

* * *

This conflict appears to stem partly from an underground struggle for supreme power, and partly from differences over ideology and methods of internal and external policy.

There is no evidence so far that Premier Khrushchev's position as supreme leader is seriously endangered at this stage.

But there is strong evidence that Khrushchev is under considerable pressure from the remaining group of hard-core Stalinists and from critics of his economic and agricultural policies.

Khrushchev also is reported under heavy pressure to tighten the grip on the satellites and to crush Marshal Tito.

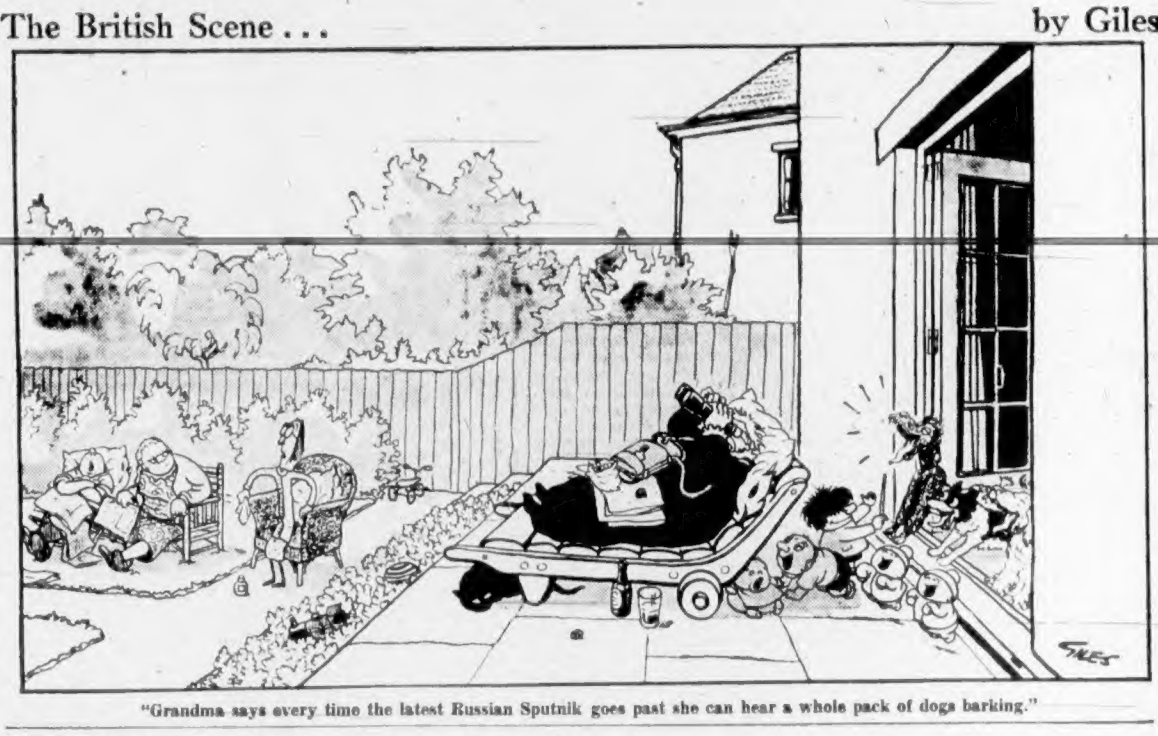

The pressure is said to have forced Khrushchev to reverse some of his earlier policies, explaining his turn-about since launching his de-Stalinization campaign two and a half years ago.

There are continuing reports that Mikhail Suslov, No. 2 man inside the Communist party, is spearheading the struggle for a hardening overall policy—a struggle that could bring him into a head-on clash with Khrushchev.

Khrushchev only a little more than a week ago ridiculed reports of Suslov's alleged disappearance from Moscow. Suslov had not been seen there since the middle of May, and did not attend the important meetings of Communist leaders a fortnight ago. Some reports claim his absence is enforced.

Nonetheless, the brutal executions of leaders of the Hungarian freedom fight signify that the hard-core Stalinists are gaining ground in Moscow.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

ENGLAND—A Brazilian journalist is quoted in a London paper today as complaining that his countrymen are too restrained in their play.

This surprised his English colleagues in Sweden, the focal point these days of uninhibited international fervor, who think of South American footballers as the acme of excitability, but the Brazilian stuck to his guns. His team currently was without passion.

Red being the totem of unrestrained feeling one might say, perhaps, that London at the moment is like the Brazilian soccer team—without passion. The big red buses are in mothballs while their drivers are on strike, and this city of ancient glory and modern allure does not seen quite the same.

* * *

One would have to walk through Soho at three in the morning—no, not Soho, let's say Whitehall or Bond Street—to suggest that the streets are empty. They are far from free, either of pedestrians or motor traffic. But they seem bereft nevertheless. There is some talk that when the buses return their numbers will be progressively reduced, it having been discovered that the streets are better without them and there being a disposition on the part of the authorities to persuade Londoners to use the tube.

That they are doing these busless days. But burrowing in the underground like moles scarcely becomes the London of vintage fame. They might as well remove the red-coated sentries from Buckingham Palace as eliminate the familiar red buses. Nor, may I add, is their present absence an asset to the customary throng of summer visitors, who however have the prospect that the strike will be over in a few days from this writing.

There are not quite so many buff and black colored funnels plying between Victoria and Vancouver as customarily there are red-colored buses on London streets, but I understand that you too are bereft these days—of ships. May I express the hope that both strikes will be over coincidentally.

You may judge from the foregoing, therefore, that temporarily at least, the capital of England has changed. All things, of course, are mutable. Only yesterday as we drove through the village of Bray, on the upper reaches of the Thames, a batsman on the green ran for a single. Unfortunately for him his partner started in unison, hesitated, and then changed his mind. He ran back to his crease and the poor batsman was out, stumped.

* * *

It was in this same village, I believe, that a notable vicar of the long ago managed his changeableness with more adroitness, thus securing a comfortable measure of security in office, as it were. But as I read in the Observer, apropos the Churchills, a certain fluidity of conviction is not without its advantages. Indeed were this not the case no strike, for instance, would ever end.

But physically at least the principal fluid in London is the Thames. It flows as it has done since Boadicea headed this way, and before. Contrarywise the Needle of another queen, Cleopatra of the retrouse nose, seems as static as when it stood outside Heliopolis. I was somewhat amused to read again the eulogy to the man who brought it to London, thinking that "patriotic zeal" might cover a less laudable sentiment, but then another inscription says that a khedive donated it. He might have been subtly persuaded, however, I suppose.

Red buses or no red buses nevertheless, London is London, full of charm and majesty and irresistable attraction. No visitor can walk its storied streets unmoved. They still beat with the pulse of a great nation.

Australia's Labor Laws

Trade Unionism Strengthened

Second of a series of six articles by a widely experienced Australian journalist

By FRED NOSSAL

COMPULSORY arbitration has had a profound influence on the development of trade unions in Australia. As soon as it became evident that higher wages and improved conditions could be obtained merely by negotiating before an arbitration tribunal, hitherto unrecognized groups of workers flocked in their thousands to join the ranks of the trade unionists.

And whereas in 1901, the year in which compulsory arbitration was first effectively established, total trade union membership was only about 6 per cent of the total paid work force, it is now well over 60 per cent.

Australia today is one of the most highly unionized countries in the free world.

This inducement to organize unions has not been confined to industrial wage earners. It has spread to white collar workers in both the private and public sectors.

Lists of registered unions show that most of the important groups of white collar workers are represented —the public services (both state and federal), scientific and professional organizations, school teaching, banking, nursing, insurance, wholesaling, and retailing, police and clerical. Only a few groups like the judiciary, the churches and the universities are not represented.

* * *

But compulsory arbitration in Australia has not produced the industrial peace which some of its protagonists more than half a century ago naively expected it would.

Quite on the contrary, there has been a record number of strikes in recent years. Australia's strike figures are higher than those of most other countries.

Between 1927 and 1954 (according to International Labor Reviews) Australia had an average rate of time loss from strikes of 1,048 man-hours per every 1,000 persons employed. This is twice Canada's figure of only 481 man-hours.

But at least the area of industrial conflict has been progressively reduced, and is now concentrated mainly on a few traditionally strike-prone industries like coal mining, waterfront and shipping, metal trades, food and drink, railways and other transport industries.

Proportion of strikes in these industries now totals about 94 per cent of all strikes in the country. Coal mining alone has accounted for 70 per cent of all strikes in Australia since the Second World War.

* * *

But at least there are fewer major strikes and trials of strength between capital and labor these days.

The average number of strikes per year lasting a week or more has dropped from 150 during the post-war boom of 1919 to 1922 to less than 100 at present.

Yet the proportion of minor stoppages lasting a day or less has risen sharply from about 40 per cent to 66 per cent during the same period.

The typical strike in Australia today doesn't last very long. It usually represents little more than a mass protest or mass demonstration of industrial strength.

* * *

The facts show clearly that Australia's strike problem has been modified in several important respects over the past 40 years especially, and much of this is due to the contribution of arbitration.

Researchers have proved that especially in the pastoral industry and in the furniture trades arbitration has had an important stabilizing influence.

Of central importance in the Australian arbitration system is the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Commission which has only recently taken over the conciliatory and arbitral functions of the Commonwealth Arbitration Court.

Not only does this agency determine directly the wages and salaries of 40 per cent of all workers in Australia, but the various other tribunals usually follow its basic and marginal wage decisions very closely.

This means that the Commonwealth tribunals, in effect, determine wage standards for the economy as a whole.

Foreign Aid

What Canada Is Doing

(From The Montreal Gazette)

THE government has very wisely produced and published a report on the amounts that Canada has provided in foreign aid over the last 13 years. They are very sizeable figures, a total of $4,300,000,000. Per capita this compares very favorably with the aid provided by the United States—and the U.S. figures are given publicity every time they come up for discussion in either House of Congress.

This total figure, too, does not include the amounts Canada has contributed to international programs or membership in international agencies. It does not include funds already allocated for aid during the current year.

It does not include, for instance, almost a million dollars which represents the cost of Canada's support for the United Nations Emergency Force in Egypt and Israel.

Since the formation of NATO, Canada has spent more than a billion and a half on assistance to her NATO partners, supplying them with all types of military materiel, and training their air forces in this country. A billion and 185 million dollars was credited to the United Kingdom shortly after 1945 to assist in the U.K.'s food purchases.

The list of items is a long one: $200,000,000 to the Colombo Plan; $35,000,000 in credits to enable India, Pakistan and Ceylon to buy Canadian wheat and flour; $23,000,000 in assistance to Hungarian refugees since 1956; reconstruction loans to Belgium, Nationalist China, Czechoslovakia, France, The Netherlands, Indonesia, Norway and Russia. The Soviet Union, incidentally, is one of the countries which has fully repaid the Canadian loans.

Many Americans believe that Canada, like most of the rest of the United States' allies, is on the receiving end of a dollar pipeline from the U.S. mint. Not only does Canada not receive aid from the U.S.; Canada supplies aid in large quantity to others, just as the U.S. does.

To destroy this illusion, it is necessary that Americans be told what Canada is doing. First, though, the government must keep Canadians themselves informed of what we are doing. Last week's announcement was a wise one.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

TWO-FACED people are tremendous fun if you can just prevent yourself from getting mad at them. There is more thrill in playing a two-faced person than in playing a four-pound trout or a six-pound bass. A game of poker, or even a game of chess, is not half as amusing as the games you can enjoy watching the manoeuvres of a real, genuine double-dyed two-faced person, male or female.

Of course, you have to be pretty cagey. You have to offer them every evidence of your friendship, goodwill and absolute trust. And then you have to be pretty nimble in finding out, from other friends and acquaintances, just what the two-faced one said and did with regard to you, and with respect to the confidences you imposed in him.

But the main thing is, as I say, don't get mad. For example, one of the most two-faced people I know, after 10 years of the most enjoyable contortions—equal, in my opinion, to those of a 20-pound salmon on the end of a mere six-ounce rod—came to my house and stamped into the vestibule.

"You," he shouted, "are the most two-faced person I have ever known!"

And slammed out.

You see, he got mad. It ruined everything.

Now I have to go hunting all over the place for a new two-faced friend.

Snide Apology

The Tory central office news letter has issued the "apology of the week": "In our last issue it was stated that J. B. Priestley does not know as much about world strategy as the man in the moon. The editor wishes unreservedly to withdraw this statement, which was unjustified and devoid of foundation. In expressing regret for any pain, inconvenience or distress which may have been caused, the editor wishes it to be as widely known as possible that Mr. Priestley does know as much about world strategy as the man in the moon."

NEWS-CHRONICLE, LONDON.

Letters to the Editor

Fair Deal for All

The strike now in operation against the CPR naturally continues to be an item of public interest. Mr. Barrie's letter published on Sunday is well written and concerns mostly the attitude of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Barrie claims that the dispute is one between employer and employee, and I gather from his remarks arbitration forced by the government would be considered undemocratic. It [illegible] gets very little consideration by the union concerned . . .

Most Canadians want to see fair play to all workers, because nearly all Canadians are workers themselves. There is no reason why fair conditions should not be set by arbitration, where strikes upset the general economy of our country. It would not seem reasonable that men who are not elected today by the voters should have the power to force the closure of public services.

We elect a government; it should govern, so that all get a fair deal. C. G. OWEN, 4919 Cordova Bay Road, Cordova Bay, B.C.

Chiropractic Practice

An article carried in your newspaper columns of June 12, in which chiropractic is intertwined with reference to false medical cures statements by a Dr. Eric Martin, has been brought to my attention and, I feel, warrants a reply.

This attack is nothing new. Medical doctors have said, and no doubt still say, that they render every health need that patients require and that they perform services which chiropractors perform. This is not so. This is an age of specialization and chiropractic is a specialized field.

The question is not whether one should give up the services of a medical doctor and entrust himself to a chiropractor exclusively. Each has his clear defined place in the great complex of the over-all art of healing. Each may, in countless instances, complement the other to the benefit of patients whom both are trying to aid.

I should like to clarify the decision of the chiropractic profession on certain specific points. Chiropractors are, by education, training, choice and legislation, unable to perform surgery, administer drugs, prescribe diet, or give advice in respect thereto.

Chiropractic is a distinct and separate science and confines itself to the restoration of nervous energy to the body by means of a chiropractic adjustment by hand only to the spinal column.

Chiropractors do not profess to be miracle workers, able to cure anything under the sun. Although we deal with structural adjustments, we do not set bones, treat cuts or wounds. When a condition appears to be outside his particular field, the chiropractor refers the patient to a medical doctor, dentist, gynecologist, optometrist, etc. In a recent survey of our profession, it was revealed that out of 300 chiropractors questioned, 293 continually referred patients to medical doctors and it was also disclosed that 251 of those same chiropractors received patients from physicians for treatment.

In order to practice in British Columbia, a chiropractor must have the equivalent of senior matriculation standing of this province and then successfully attend a duly accredited school of chiropractic teaching, a course of four years of not less than eight months in each year.

The Government of Canada has in many ways recognized the fact that chiropractic is a well established and enduring profession which is here to stay. The incorporation under the laws of the Government of Canada by letters patent of the association demonstrates this fact. Workmen's Compensation boards throughout Canada recognize chiropractic and, in several provinces, chiropractors are treated on the same basis as medicine so that an injured workman may elect as to whom he shall go. In addition, a large number of insurance companies in Canada have accepted chiropractic treatment as a necessary health service and pay the claims presented by the insured. These are but instances.

I can say that chiropractors in this province are law-abiding, professional people, performing their services within the limits of the act according to the highest standards of the profession. EVANN DAVIES, DC, President,
Chiropractors' Association of B.C.
751 Granville Street, Vancouver 2, B.C.

Chauffeurs Getting $5,760 Each

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons estimates committee yesterday questioned the need for a chauffeur and car for each of the three Canadian military attaches in Moscow.

Alan Macnaughton (L, Montreal Mount Royal) noted that three Russian civilian chauffeurs have been hired this year at $5,760 each, compared to one chauffeur last year.

EXAMINERS SATISFIED

Deputy Defence Minister Frank Miller said the services had been able "to put up a good enough story to satisfy the examiners that there is a requirement" for a car and chauffeur for each military attache.

Mr. Miller said Canada had to pay the official exchange rate of four rubles to the dollar, whereas the real value of the ruble was about 10 to the dollar.

'LAVISH' MESSES

—Douglas Fisher (CCF, Port Arthur) quoted what he said was a statement by Prime Minister Diefenbaker while still in opposition that an excessive amount of money was spent for upkeep of officers' messes.

Mr. Fisher said the messes are "lavish establishments."

Defence Minister Pearkes said he could not accept the description "lavish."

Mr. Pearkes said officers and men must have living standards comparable to what they would have in civilian life.

Mr. Fisher asked whether the defence department receives complaints from "temperance people" that messes sell liquor and beer and undermine the character of servicemen.

Mr. Pearkes said he has been in the army since 1914 and has never seen a greater degree of sobriety and better standard of living than exists today.

HIGH REJECTIONS

Earlier, the committee was informed that only one-third of army applicants were actually recruited into the army in 1957-58.

Only 8½ per cent of applicants were rejected on medical grounds but 9,969 out of 11,921 were rejected because of too low academic qualifications and after aptitude tests.

Hitch-Hikers Crushed Atop Truck

PORTLAND (AP)—Two Norwegian seamen, hitching a ride atop a big express truck, had no clearance room when the truck [illegible] overpass here. One was crushed to death and the other was swept onto the highway and injured.

The man killed was Tore Bjorn Olsen, 17, of Kongshamn, Tromay, Norway. His companion, Egil Hogstli, 25, of Kragero, Norway, was reported in fairly good condition yesterday, but with apparent loss of memory of the accident.

The men were seamen on the freighter Lancelot. Why they were on the truck was not known, but the coroner's office said a shipmate reported seeing them climb aboard when the truck stopped for a traffic light.

More Exports, Fewer Imports Shave Canadian Trade Deficit

OTTAWA (CP)—A big spurt in exports and a sharp drop in imports shaved Canada's trade deficit to $2,500,000 in May from $108,700,000 a year ago.

The total deficit for the first five months of 1958 now stands at $173,600,000, just one-third the $514,200,000 in January-May last year, the bureau of statistics reported.

May's exports reversed a declining trend in earlier months, rising to $484,400,000 from $445,400,000 last year and boosting the five-month total to $1,952,900,000 from $1,936,400,000.

Imports continued the earlier decline, dropping in May to $486,900,000 from $554,100,000 last year and cutting the January-May total to $2,126,500,000 from $2,450,600,000.

The deficit is the excess of imports over exports. Some experts maintain the decline in imports is a reflection of the recession. With business investment down, less capital goods were required for economic expansion.

In May Canada's exports to the U.S. dropped to $248,100,000 from $266,800,000, reducing the five-month total to $1,135,300,000 from $1,156,300,000.

Imports from the U.S. also dropped to $333,300,000 from $394,600,000, cutting the January-May amount to $1,509,200,000 from $1,816,600,000.

The deficit in American trade thereby was cut to $85,200,000 from $127,800,000 in the month and to $373,900,000 from $660,300,000 in the five months.

In trade with Britain, Canada's exports rose to $81,500,000 from $68,800,000 in the month and to $291,200,000 from $284,600,000 in the five months.

Imports also rose to $55,500,000 from $50,700,000 in May and to $221,800,000 from $216,800,000 in the five months.

This gave Canada an over-all surplus in U.K. trade of $26,000,000 in May, compared with $18,100,000 last year, increasing the five-month surplus to $69,400,000 from last year's $67,800,000.

During May 'Spring Pickup'

Unemployment Total Drops by 150,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's unemployed dropped by 150,000 and employment rose by 212,000 in the month preceding May 24, the federal government reported today.

The spring job pickup cut the workless list to 366,000 from 516,000 though it still remained well over the 194,000 of May, 1957.

For the week ended May 24, the bureau of statistics also estimated the number of persons with jobs at 5,665,000, up from 5,453,000 in the month and close to the 5,687,000 of a year earlier.

The labor department, in a joint release with the bureau, said registrations for jobs with the National Employment Service at May 22 totalled 641,852. This compared with 825,359 at April 17 and with 360,016 in May of last year.

The registration does not indicate absolute employment. The bureau's estimates are based on a monthly sample survey of 30,000 households.

The unemployment figures are down from a post-war record of 590,000 in March.

The labor force showed a slight increase during the month, passing the 6,000,000 mark for the first time. It went to 6,031,000 from 5,969,000. This compared with 5,881,00 a year earlier.

Employment service registrations in B.C. were 74,815, compared with 90,363 the previous month and 37,583 in May, 1957.

In Victoria registrations at May 22 totalled 4,890, compared with 5,131 on April 17 and 2,218 on May 16, 1957.

TO ALL LUMBER WORKERS
VOTE FOR STRIKE ACTION

Your Union's District Policy Committee recommends that you vote to authorize strike action on the government-supervised strike vote

FRIDAY, JUNE 27

BECAUSE:

Your authorization of strike action is now the only means at your disposal to get fair consideration of a decent contract settlement.

Your authorization of strike action will not be given effect until deemed advisable by the District Policy Committee.

Your authorization of strike action confirms your decisive rejection of the majority report of the Conciliation Board which recommended a year's wage freeze, while living costs are rising. It also recommended contract changes which will take away existing contract benefits.

REMEMBER:

→ Wage settlements for other unions in the province have raised their wage rates as high as 15%.

→ The Pulp and Sulphite Workers, in the same industry, with the same employers, have a base rate of $1.89 an hour, while it is proposed that the IWA base rate remain at $1.72 an hour. Vancouver street-sweepers get $1.84 an hour.

→ The rise in living costs has practically wiped out last year's wage increase. A continued rise in living costs is expected rather than any decline.

→ Productivity per man-day throughout the industry is higher. Fewer workers are producing more. Labour costs per unit of production are less than before the last wage increase.

THE EMPLOYERS ARE ABLE TO PAY A WAGE INCREASE

The employers have made enormous profits in the past, derived from the natural resources of the province. They are continuing to make substantial profits. The market prospects promise them the restoration of their high level profits of past years. Under these circumstances they have the moral obligation to pay the wage increase that will keep their employees abreast of living costs, and reward them for increased productivity.

Market demands are expanding. The pronounced demand shown in the first four months of this year is now showing a further expansion. Home-building programs in the United States and Canada have been launched on a scale that ensures a boom for B.C. lumber. At competitive prices, the sale of B.C. lumber in all export markets is showing a decided upward trend while production and shipping costs have been lowered.

HERE IS THE RECORD OF FOUR MONTHS' TOTAL SHIPMENTS

TOTAL SHIPMENTS

	1958	1957	Change
United Kingdom	140.7 million bd. ft.	99.7 million bd. ft.	41%
U.S. Atlantic Seaboard	186.1 million bd. ft.	66.5 million bd. ft.	180%
Eastern Canada	4.2 million bd. ft.	none million bd. ft.	——
Total to all Other Countries	204.4 million bd. ft.	86.3 million bd. ft.	135%

The record of our relations with employers in the lumber industry indicates that, unless we are prepared to fight for our legitimate needs we will get nothing, as the majority report of the Conciliation Board proposes.

Adult Minor's Confession

The painful discovery has been made, by quizzing all delinquent juveniles within reach, that there are people in this world so young they never heard of Richard Harding Davis, that paragon of war correspondents and teller of tales. To one whose own youth glowed with the romance of R. H. D.'s soldiers-of-fortune, this seems a sorry footnote on the era of Mickey Spillane. It was brought to light by receipt of a letter from Mrs. Hope Harding Davis Kehrig, daughter of the creator of Gallegher and Van Bibber.

Mrs. Kehrig was bemused by last week's disclosure that New York race tracks no longer regarded themselves as occasions of sin for children. The announcement that "adult minors" were now welcome in the gambling hells moved her to reminiscence, because:

"I believe that I was on at least one occasion an 'adult minor' in full active adult practice. It comes under the heading of 'What Mothers Decide Are Large Moral Principles.' And I was ten years old at the time.

"I should mention that my mother, after father died when I was very young, hovered over me with frequent squawking as to what legacy I might have inherited from my sire. I had a rather full-natured father, and the mere idea of some of his more sportive points of view (he had mentioned to my mother that he would be happy to see to it that his daughter saw every heavyweight prizefight accompanied by himself as mentor) was enough to throw my ma.

High Moral Lesson

"She quite realized that for the rest of my life I would not have the great privilege of knowing that gentleman but she wished to protect me from at least one of the Harding Davis proclivities—known in his day as the R. H. D. Luck—which came from parlaying one horse atop another. Richard, even when he lost at the races, had managed to make good his losses and better his winnings by writing two short stories called 'Van Bibber's An Experiment in Economy' and the better known 'The Man Who Could Not Lose.'

"Still and all, mother was frightened that I might have within me the gambling spirit my father had owned. She decided that It Was High Time Hope Knew The Evils of Gambling.

"Ten years old may seem a bit early to have such a High Moral Lesson thrust upon one, but Mother Knew Best. We were living that year at Cannes on the French Riviera, and a few miles away at Frejus races were run with small sturdy local ponies.

"There whole families flocked to sit in the sun for a pique-nique, Papa and parcel, cheese, bread and vin rouge, Maman et les petis enfants tout en ronds, happily, stolidly watching the Sunday horse races. As for 'adult minors,' any petit enfant clutching a five-franc note in his little hot hand was as fully welcome at the betting windows as you, sir with your two-dollar bet at Belmont. No discrimination, sir.

The Curse of Wealth

"So there I was. And mother handed me a one-hundred-franc note with firm instructions to go bet every centime on the horses.

"It is hard for me to make you understand the enormous full-fleshed wealth represented by one hundred francs. My weekly allowance was ten francs, from which I would purchase either the eleventh and the last volume of 'Le Comte de Monte Cristo' (unexpurgated) in the seven-franc Nelson Edition, or entry into the Thursday (no afternoon school) movie of Buster Keaton's latest. The other three francs went to the Peter-Cailler-Keohler Chocolate Company—I collected the stamps.

"But one hundred francs—like that, suddenly—and 'Go bet it on the horses!'

"I lined up at the five-franc window and asked the little old lady in black who stood before me what was a good bet. (They all wore black after the first World War, so that's no criterion.) She managed to worm out of me—not a difficult feat—that my mother's intentions were to have me lose and so Teach Me the Evils of Betting. The little old lady approved thoroughly and told me that although she was betting on No. 2, I should chance my whole hundred on No. 10, the horse least likely to succeed.

"To our embarrassment, he won. Making a long, hot, happy day short, I ended the afternoon presenting my mother with my winnings—5,562 francs—and watched dismayed as she burst into violent Irish tears.

Belmont, Anyone?

"Loving my mother and, even at ten, understanding what she had in mind, I voluntarily swore to her that never in her whole life would I bet on another horse. Both much calmed by this oath, we returned to Cannes.

"Mother died six years later. I had neither the occasion nor the wish to violate my oath. And a great many years passed.

"It was in 1955, I think, when I was recovering from something or other in Florida and mere boredom prompted me to visit a place called Gulfstream and watch the racing. I went quite alone. And somehow I bought all the forms and tout's toots and made my selections.

"I am quite innocent and naive and simple-minded, completely ignorant of How One Bets or How One Selects What Horse to Bet On. All I know is that out of the eight races I got eight winners, two seconds and one show.

"But I keep wondering . . . if I ever go back a third time to a race track, will I be just as you and you and you, and lose everything? Or ——?"

Last night's score: New Westminster 11, Vancouver 11.

Next game tonight: Nanaimo at VICTORIA.

VANCOUVER — Vancouver Pilseners, who have yet to beat New Westminster Salmonbellies, almost made it here last night before settling for an 11-11 tie in an Inter-City Lacrosse League game which kept 1,200 fans well entertained throughout.

Reasonably close but always on the short end in four previous games, Pilseners seemed headed for victory when they took a 10-6 lead into the last quarter. But they couldn't hang on, Salmonbellies forcing overtime with the only four goals of the quarter, two each by Spunk Oddy and Ivan Stewart.

BYFORD GETS POINT

Pils forged ahead in the overtime on a scoring shot by Gordie Gimple but Jack Byford got a point for his club by scoring with only 40 seconds left.

It was the second tie game of the season for Salmonbellies, who split the points with Nanaimo Timbermen early in the season, and it kept them three points in front of the runner-up Pilseners.

Pils moved three points ahead of the third-place Victoria Shamrocks.

Rookie Pete Black led Pils with three goals while Bill Barbour signalized his return to action after a 10-game suspension with two goals and two assists. Gimple and Bobby Marsh also scored twice for Pils.

Stewart led Salmonbellies with three goals while Byford, Oddy and Jack Bionda each got two.

City Team Loses

Ladies' par competition played at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday was won by Mrs. R. Humphreys, one up.

In the ladies' inter-club play, a team of nine golfers from Port Angeles Golf Club defeated an Uplands Golf Club team, 7-2.

Return match will be played in August in Port Angeles.

Timbermen Here for 'Big' One; Both Clubs at Full Strength

There'll be a playoff air at Memorial Arena tonight when Victoria Shamrocks and Nanaimo Timbermen tangle in their fourth Inter-City Lacrosse League game of the season.

To the loser in this one will go the cellar position. While the Shamrocks slipped back by losing four of their last five games, the Timbermen recovered from a near-disastrous start to win four of five and move into playoff contention. They start tonight's game only one point behind their Island rivals and can leave the basement for the first time if they can even their score for the season with the Victoria club.

ROCKS ONE UP

In previous games, the Shamrocks won by 12-11 at Nanaimo and 10-6 here before taking an 18-6 pasting at Nanaimo in the game which set the Timbermen back on the right path. Nanaimo followed this win with two victories over New Westminster, and then split two games with Vancouver.

Leading the way in the Nanaimo comeback have been veterans such as Skip McKay, who has 25 points from his last five games; Arnie Dugan, Spud Morelli, coach Don Ashbee, Don Sherry and Lisle Scott.

But Ashbee gives a lot of credit for his club's about-face to fellows like Tom McVie, Bill Stuart and Norm Kowalyk, who have been getting their goals here and there, checking well and battling for loose balls, and to Fred Fulla, who has been a standout between the pipes. And to burly Terry Rodway, who gets the ball for his club from face-offs far more often than not.

LISTS LINES

Stuart and big Jim Kinna are both listed in the Nanaimo lineup tonight for their first appearance here. The Vancouverites play on a line with Rodway. McVie and Joe White form another line while Ashbee, Sherry and Jack Scott are the third attacking unit.

In front of Fulla are the defence combinations of Dugan and McKay and Morelli and Scott, a quartet which has outscored, by far, the defencemen on the other clubs.

Shamrock coach Whitey Severson is confident that his club is all set to snap out of the slump which has brought it dangerously close to last place.

A big reason for his confidence is the return to action of Pee Wee Bradshaw, who has settled his differences with the club, and Al Gill, who has ended his "retirement" and will be in action for the first time this season.

Gill will centre for Bradshaw and Jim McNulty and is counted on to give the Rocks better results on loose balls and in the face-offs.

Ed Kowalyk will centre for Archie Browning and Bert Bertoia and it will be Ron Jay, Art Green and George Wilson, a speedy veteran from senior "B" Foul Bay Tugmen on the third line.

On defence it will be Lew Landess and Jackie Northup and Derry Davies and Tom Druce with Al Davies as the utility player. Geordie Johnston will be in goal.

Sunday Sports For Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council passed a bylaw Tuesday making legal the playing of commercial sports between 1.30 p.m. and 6 p.m. Sundays.

The bylaw lists 14 sports. Ald. J. W. Cornett commented afterward: "This is just the beginning. Next will be Sunday movies."

The B.C. legislature at its spring session passed an amendment to Vancouver's charter permitting Sunday sport in the city. The provincial court of appeal recently found the amendment legal.

The sports now permitted are: baseball, softball, ice hockey, ice skating, roller skating, English rugby, soccer, Canadian football, golf, tennis, lacrosse, bowling, cycling, badminton and swimming. Additional sports can be added as council decides.

Cards Seem Serious Threat, Challenge from Second Spot

St. Louis Cardinals are looking more and more like the club most likely to argue longest with the defending champion Milwaukee Braves about the National League pennant.

Off to a 3-14 start, the Redbirds have gradually gathered momentum and yesterday they moved into a second-place tie with the San Francisco Giants, who have been slowly slipping back. Although Stan Musial has been in a serious slump, the Cards have been picked up by improved pitching and clutch hitting by such as Ken Boyer, Joe Cuningham and rookie Gene Green.

Last night, it was rookie Curt Flood who was the hero. He slammed a two-run homer in the ninth inning which beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1. Sam Jones started the game, Morrie Martin took over in the seventh and Phil Paine, who got the win, came on to pitch in the eighth. Between them, they held the Pirates to six hits.

But the Braves, who took the lead although such stars as Red Schoendienst, Wes Covington and Bob Buhl have been out with injuries and others such as Hank Aaron, Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn got into slumps, also won last night.

SNAPS SLUMP

Spahn snapped his slump after three straight losses with a three-hitter which beat the Giants, 2-1. Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock provided the runs Spahn needed with their 15th and ninth home runs, respectively.

Los Angeles Dodgers knocked Cincinnati Redlegs back with a sweep of a doubleheader, 13-10 and 7-2.

It took 10 innings to win the first game and it was ex-Dodger Don Newcombe who got the loss. Facing his old teammates for the first time in a relief role, Newcombe was tagged for the tie-breaking runs. Gil Hodges snapped a long slump with a home run in each game for the winners.

Johnny Briggs, who once pitched for Salem in the old WIL, shut out Philadelphia Phils, 3-0, for Chicago Cubs.

In the American League, the New York Yankees slapped down the Chicago White Sox, 6-2, as Mickey Mantle, Norm Seibern and Jerry Lumpe all hit home runs in a five-run fourth inning which beat Early Wynn. Although only 15-16 since May 25, the Yanks are still eight games ahead of their closest pursuers, the Kansas City Athletics.

Doubles Win Makes Sweep For Gonzales

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Lew Hoad outslugged Pancho Gonzales, 13-15, 6-3, 6-4, Tuesday night in a wasted windup to the $15,000 professional tennis tournament of champions. Gonzales already had clinched the $3,000 first prize.

Gonzales finished with a 5-1 record in the six-match round-robin. So did Ken Rosewall, but Gonzales defeated Rosewall man-to-man on Sunday. Rosewall thus took the $2,000 second-place money.

Hoad took the $1,500 fourth prize with a 4-2 record. Tony Trabert was third for $1,750, also with 4-2.

In the doubles final, Gonzales and Rosewall combined to whip Trabert and Sedgman, 7-5, 6-4.

Minor Lacrosse

Saanich Tigers and an All-Star team from the Peewee division of the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association will meet in the preliminary to the Inter-City Lacrosse League game between Shamrocks and Nanaimo Timbermen tonight at Memorial Arena.

Patterson to Fight Harris; Pro Sports Win Big Battle

Floyd Patterson will defend his world heavyweight boxing championship against Roy Harris at Los Angeles on Aug. 18 although the California Athletic Commission yesterday refused to grant Al Weill a promoter's licence.

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, said Weill had "voluntarily stepped aside" and that a new promoter would take over.

"Every effort has been made to prevent this match," D'Amato charged, "but we are going to hold it in the very place they didn't want it."

By "they" D'Amato obviously meant the International Boxing Club, with which he has been conducting a lengthy battle. He didn't name the new promoter but Jack "Deacon" Hurley of Seattle was considered a likely possibility.

Weill is the former manager of Rocky Marciano, who retired unbeaten as heavyweight champion.

Professional sports won a big battle yesterday when the United States House of Representatives voted to grant exemption from anti-trust laws to the controversial reserve clause and certain other practices of professional baseball, football, hockey and basketball.

The measure, a substitute for a more restrictive measure recommended by the House Judiciary Committee, was approved after a sometimes bitter debate. The House bill would apply the anti-trust laws strictly to business aspects of the four organized team sports.

Pony League No-Hitter Minor Baseball Feature

George Hemming tossed a five-inning no-hitter last night in Carnarvon Pony League action as league-leading Oak Bay Police won their ninth game in ten starts, defeating Mawson-Gage, 3-0, in a rain-shortened contest.

Hemming struck out seven, walked five and was backed by flawless fielding support.

The Capital City Colt League has openings for several players and any interested boys are asked to turn out at Windsor Park tonight at 6.30 p.m. To be eligible for Colt League play, boys must be 15 or 16 years of age.

Wimbledon Tennis Goes as Expected

WIMBLEDON, England — Althea Gibson, still smarting over her defeat which cost the United States a Wightman Cup victory, opened a defense of her Wimbledon ladies' singles tennis championship yesterday by polishing off dainty little Margaret Hellyer of Australia, 6-0, 6-2.

Victory put Miss Gibson into the third round. She had drawn a first-round bye. A crowd of 11,000 watched her performance on the famed centre court.

Six other United States entries also moved into second and third-round play—Mimi Arnold, Dorothy Head Knode, Karol Fageros, Margaret Osborne Dupont, Margaret Varner and Jonet Hopps of Seattle.

CHRISTINE WINS

Second-seeded Christine Truman, the 17-year-old English sensation who defeated Miss Gibson in the key Wightman Cup match, won just about as impressively, taking only 30 minutes to eliminate Rosemary Deloford of England, 6-0, 6-1.

Maria Beuno, the 18-year-old Brazilian prospect who is rated as a future champion, made a brilliant Wimbledon debut with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Hazel Cheadle of England.

There was no play yesterday in the men's singles. In the men's doubles, Barry Mackay, the chief U.S. hope but seeded only eighth in the singles, teamed with Mervyn Rose of Australia to reach the second round with an 8-6, 6-4, 6-0 win over Lew Gerrard and Peter Nicholls of New Zealand.

Veterans Gardnar Mulloy and Budge Patty, who last year became the first unseeded pairing to win the doubles, opened defense of their honors with an 8-6, 9-7, 6-4 win over Wilhelm Bungert and Peter School of Germany.

Mrs. Todd Advances In B.C. Closed Meet

VANCOUVER (CP)—Favorites played true to form Tuesday in the first round of match play of the B.C. women's closed golf championship flight at Marine Drive Golf Club.

Mrs. Margaret Hutton Potts of Vancouver won 5 and 4 over Miss Suzanne Foulds of Marine Drive.

Many-times champion Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria won easily, 6 and 5, over Mrs. H. McCranor of Vancouver.

Mrs. G. Garnet, city champion, stroked to an easy 5 and 4 triumph over Vancouver's Mrs. R. Renwick.

Defending champion Mrs. Brice Evans eased by Mrs. A. Tobin, 1 up, in one of the day's closest matches.

In other matches, Mrs. Helen Cleat, Vancouver, beat Miss K. Duff-Stuart 5 and 3; Mrs. Colleen Smith beat Mrs. D. McIntosh 2 and 1; Mrs. D. Patterson beat Mrs. C. A. Cooke, 1 up; and Mrs. Knox beat Mrs. R. Patrick 2 and 1.

Quarter-finals matches are scheduled today.

San Diego Padres knocked Vancouver out of first place in the Pacific Coast League last night, edging the Mounties, 3-2, on Bill Werle's five-hitter.

After being held hitless for the first five innings, Mounties rallied for one run in the eighth and another in the ninth on Spider Jorgensen's fourth home run of the season. But then Dick Brodowski came on to retire the side with the potential tying run on third base.

Phoenix Giants moved past the Mounties into first place by outslugging the Spokane Indians, 12-9.

Salt Lake at Portland and Sacramento at Seattle were rained out.

Improved Salmon Fishing Here with Holiday Season

Entries made in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest during the past few days leave little doubt that Vancouver Island salmon fishing is improving, and they show also that more fishermen are getting out now that the holiday season is almost in full swing.

Reports received yesterday tell of good fishing out from Clayton's Fishing Camp near Northwest Bay, at Qualicum Beach, off Little River just north of Comox and off Shelter Bay, a few miles south of Campbell River. And fishing is also good in Saanich Inlet and fair off Oak Bay.

GOOD REPORT

A call from Pitt Clayton yesterday disclosed fishing at its peak in waters fished by boats out from Clayton's Mistaken Island, the Ballenas Islands, Tongue Point and Porcas Point. Coho ranging to five pounds and small springs are there in good numbers and anglers are also picking up springs to 15 pounds. Bill Broadhead of Victoria boated a nine-and-a-quarter pound coho yesterday. Tom Mack and Diamond spoons and Strip-Teasers are recommended lures and weight used varies between two and 12 ounces.

Qualicum Beach is offering coho to six pounds and some springs while big springs have been making things interesting for anglers out from King Cohoe Resort and the Little River Fishing Camp off Little River. The average weight is about 12 pounds but there are many tales of broken tackle and at least two tyee-sized fish have been boated in the past week, one of them a 37-pounder taken by Mrs. Ruth Taaffe of Courtenay.

A fine run of coho is within easy reach of anglers fishing from either Gone Fishin' Boat Rentals or the Rod & Reel Motel at Shelter Bay. The silvers are usually between four and seven pounds and anglers are also picking up springs between seven and 12 pounds. A check of the King Fisherman Contest entries will show the lures which are luring.

Brazil, Sweden Meet In World Cup Final

STOCKHOLM—Brazil and Sweden, as expected by most following their exceptional play in earlier matches, Tuesday qualified for next Sunday's World Cup soccer final.

Brazil's brilliant eleven, although scored on for the first time in six matches, handily disposed of the surprising French team, 5-2, before a crowd of 27,100 at Stockholm's Rasunda Stadium.

But ears of the Stockholm crowd were tuned to portable radio sets which gave them news of the other semi-final between Sweden and defending champion West Germany at Gothenburg. There, before 49,471 deliriously-happy fans, Sweden won, 3-1.

BACK SENT OFF

West Germany had the misfortune to lose fullback Erich Juskowiak in the 53rd minute. He was sent off with the score at 1-1. After 81 minutes, Gunnar Grenn, a 38-year-old with the brains of a master footballer and the legs of a youngster, shot Sweden into the lead.

Seven minutes later, right-winger Kurt Hamrin put it out of reach of the defending champions.

It was Hamrin who was flagrantly fouled in the play which caused the banishment of Juskowiak, who then tried to punch referee Istvan Zsolt of Hungary and was dragged off the field shouting by two of his team mates.

The Stockholm crowd expected a display of sheer artistry from the touted Brazilian team. Nor were the fans disappointed. The Brazilians gave even more than expected with pin-point passing, superb individualism and powerful shooting. They were about as perfect as a soccer team can get.

Pele, a 17-year-old inside-left, was the brightest star, baffling the French with his dribbling and passing wizardry. Pele scored three times at 51, 64 and 75 minutes to make it safe by building Brazil's lead to 5-1 after France had stubbornly stayed close in the first half.

Brazil dominated play almost completely after the intermission, keeping play in French territory for all but a few minutes. Even their backs were up within shooting distance as 10 Brazilians swarmed about the French goal.

Garden Notes

Watering-in-Sun Myth

By M. V. CHESNUT

I get a little hot under the collar every time I see advice given in the garden books to water the garden only in early morning or in the cool of the evening. The writers keep on perpetuating that old falsie about drops of water on the leaves acting as a magnifying glass, concentrating the rays of the sun to a burning point, thereby injuring the foliage. Anyone with any knowledge of optics must know that the focal length of a drop of water is such that it could not possibly burn the leaf on which it is resting.

Watering during periods of hot sunshine may be wasteful—some of it will be lost through evaporation—but most certainly it is not harmful. And those of us who must go to the office every day like to have a little time free in the evening for other garden chores besides watering.

There is no reason at all why the Little Woman can't be given the job of moving the sprinkler from time to time through the day, so we can get on with other projects after supper.

When I get into arguments with fellow gardeners on this point, my opponent will always point to the African violet as proof that water injures foliage, but this is something else again.

It is the coldness of the water drops which marks the foliage of violets, not their burning-glass effect, and it doesn't happen when warm water is used, or when water is applied to the leaves as a fine mist—in fact, the plants enjoy the refreshing effect of a warm shower.

* * *

I wrote a piece last summer about this business of killing weeds between the rows in the vegetable garden by treating them to an overdose of fertilizer. At the time, I was experimenting with sulphate of ammonia, putting a big double handful in the watering can and sprinkling the weeds with the solution. Since that time, I have found something even better—nitrate of soda.

I make up a very strong solution—$2\frac{1}{2}$ pounds per gallon of water, and as this is rather an expensive business when applied with a watering can, I have been using my sprayer, which makes it go much farther. Just a light misting-over of the weeds does the trick, and they turn brown and die within 24 hours.

The superior effectiveness of nitrate of soda is due to the fact that it is absorbed by the plants more quickly than any other common fertilizer salt. It is a nitrate already, and can be taken into the plant's system immediately, while other chemicals have to be converted into nitrates in the soil before they go to work.

Chickweed was particularly bad in our garden this spring, and there is nothing which can smother young seedlings more effectively than this pest. Thanks to the nitrate of soda spray, we have it licked to a frazzle—between the rows anyhow. It is still necessary to pull it up by hand in the rows themselves while the vegetable growth is young and tender. Later on, when the tough-stemmed subjects like corn, broad beans and Brussels sprouts make a bit more height, we can spray around their base to kill the in-row weeds.

British Engineers, Circa 1858, Provide Colorful, Precise Drill

* * *

WITH THE FRASER BRIGADE—Our colorful voyageurs are becoming used to being star attractions along the Fraser, but it didn't put their collective noses out of joint to be outshone Monday night by some whip-smart soldiers.

We paddled hard, against the stiffest headwinds we've encountered yet, which skittered our canoes about the river with ease, into a landing about two miles below tiny Boston Bar. Some 100 were at the landing spot to greet us.

Then brigade and spectators went into the hamlet of 250, where some 400 were gathered, and the military took over with a flourish.

The band of the Royal Canadian Engineers, Camp Chilliwack, and a changing of the guard between seven of British Royal Engineers and a similar number of Royal Canadian Engineers, provided a standout show.

They will be in Victoria July 4 and 5 and they provide a smart-stepping show of stirring music—and the odd rock and roll selection tinkled out on the glockenspiel — combined with beautifully precise drill and dashing uniforms.

The Royal Engineers, of course, are the same regiment that came to B.C. in 1958 and in five years laid out the province's foundations. Under their commanding officer, Capt. Geoffrey Gathercole, they presented the drill of 100 years ago, in the scarlet-coated, tight-trousered uniform of the time.

Capt. Gathercole assures us there's no doubt the uniforms, bayoneted guns, and the drill are authentic. He spent two months researching them in the corps' own museum at Chatham, England.

The uniform of 1858, fortunately, was still in use up to the Boar War period, so samples have been available.

The guns are Lancasters—oval-bored muzzle loaders that were the first attempt at rifling a barrel, and were superseded in 1862 by breech-loaders.

He managed to find one drill book of 1862 in the corp's museum, then an illustrated drill manual of 1847 was turned up in dusty files of the war office.

Just a few miles down from Boston Bar is the killer canyon, Hell's Gate, and a series of almost equally treacherous and impassable canyons in the 29 miles between Boston Bar and Yale. We shall portage them all.

The brigade will take a spectators' part as trained alpinists repeat what Fraser and his men had to do—clamber over the fearsome canyon walls on a "spiderweb" of roots and saplings tied together. This time, nylon cord forms the net work on the cliff faces, but it still is a risky business.

Opening lead ♣ K

At South's second turn, he could have forced partner to bid again by mentioning the heart suit; any new suit mentioned by the responding hand is usually considered a force. But there was too great a discrepancy in the strength of the suits to consider showing the hearts before rebidding the spades, so South correctly chose a jump rebid in the spade suit, which North carried to game.

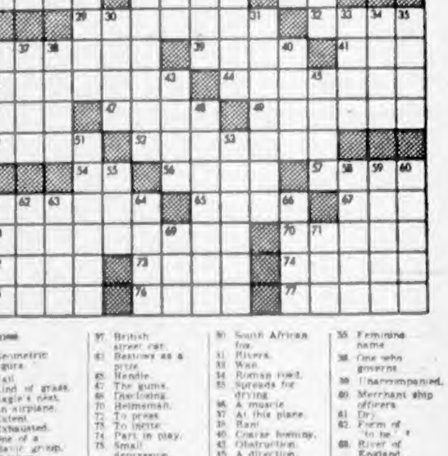

West cashed two top clubs and led a third round which declarer trumped. He decided that the best way to play so as to take care of his two heart losers was to ruff them in dummy, giving up a trick to the jack of spades if that should prove necessary. But, after cashing the king and ace of hearts, his third heart lead was overruffed by East's jack. East's trump return left declarer with a losing heart and he attempted to find a parking place for it by ruffing a club and taking a diamond finesse. The finesse lost, but South had taken all of East's trumps before trying it so East had to surrender a trick to the diamond ace and give South his discard anyway. But not before he had lost the four tricks that cost him the game.

South's plan of play was correct, but his execution was faulty. Since he was willing to concede a trick to the jack of spades, he should have made certain that he did not do so too soon. All he had to do was trump the third heart with dummy's spade ace. Later, it wouldn't matter if dummy's eight-spot was overruffed. The spade trick would be only the third trick for the defenders and South would be certain of his contract.

Fair's Nude Indian 'Not Hurting U.S.'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George V. Allen, director of the U.S. Information Agency, has recommended to President Eisenhower that some American exhibits at the Brussels fair be rotated to meet Congressional criticism.

But Allen, just returned from a quick inspection trip to Brussels on Eisenhower's orders, opposed removing the much-criticized glass etching of an unclad Indian woman. He said it was "insignificant . . . inconsequential," and added that his overall impression of the U.S. exhibit at Brussels "on balance is certainly more favorable than not."

Judge's Bill Paid, Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators uncovered information Tuesday that Bernard Goldfine paid a hotel bill for a federal judge who once presided over a suit against one of Goldfine's companies.

The jurist, U.S. district judge William T. McCarthy of Boston, disqualified himself after Goldfine personally was made a party to the action involving his firm, the East Boston Company.

Several members of the House of Representatives commerce subcommittee sharply criticized the Securities and Exchange Commission, which brought the case, for what they termed failure to crack down quickly.

But SEC Chairman Edward N. Gadsby said inquiries from the White House and from senators had nothing to do with a six-year delay in prosecuting the case against Goldfine, a friend of Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief aide.

A Goldfine lawyer, Samuel P. Sears, said the bill was paid before Goldfine even knew that his East Boston Company would be involved in a court case.

Hollywood Films To Be Picketed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The American Federation of Musicians plans to picket two first-run Hollywood movies because the films were sent out of the country for musical scoring. The films are "Vertigo" and "Ten North Frederick," which were scored outside this country because of a strike involving a union jurisdictional dispute.

'Lady Precious Stream' Cast More Interesting Than Play

By BRUCE LOWTHER
Colonist Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — The actors in "Lady Precious Stream" are more interesting than the play, which takes quite a bit of doing.

The 10-year-old dramatic chapter of the Hawaiian Chinese Civic Association, making its first trip away from home, opened the traditional Chinese play Monday for a one-week run in Georgia Auditorium here, after which they journey to Victoria for a stand at the Royal Theatre July 2 and 3 before going back home.

NEEDLE-SHARP

The 2½-hour mellerdrama, which belongs to the "never darken my door again" category, is in English dialogue with a background of Chinese music. It has beautiful girls, handsome men, glittering costumes, a needle-sharp script, a smattering of slapstick and a happy ending.

Opening night audience laughed at such lines as "he knows nothing and does nothing but talks incessantly; consequently, he has become famous," but seemed to get most enjoyment out of two onstage prop men who made every change of scenery into side-splitting slapstick.

HAM IT UP

Backstage, sound man Fred Chang was asked if the Chinese humor had been anglicized to any extent. He admitted with a smile that "we ham it up here and there."

The two stars, Brenda Ann Ing in the title role, and James Lui as the humble gardener she loves, were appearing onstage for the first time in their lives. Lui left the army just before casting began and had never seen a Chinese play in his life; Miss Ing, 15-year-old high school student, is the youngest member of the cast.

CHOPPED OFF

Yun Kui Chang, a statistician for Honolulu Rapid Transit who plays a villain, talked of his work in the US TV shows and movies filmed in Hawaii. For example, in the Capt. Grief show, "one time, I got my head chopped off."

Larry Ing, one of the prop-men, is president of the group. He painted the backdrop in time left over from his jobs as sales clerk at a gas products store and night school art teacher.

NOBODY PAID

No one in the 35-member amateur company is paid. In fact, some paid their way here to ease the problems of Victoria and Vancouver Chinatown Lions Clubs in meeting $20,000 expenses.

Only white member of the group is Ruth Westhafer, a backstage worker who is a car company placement officer. An Indianapolis girl, she went to Hawaii for a year and has stayed for eight years.

"Coming over on the plane, I sure confused some of the crew," she said. "When they asked me if I was white, I realized I had forgotten all about race."

ENDS TONIGHT
"IT'S GREAT TO BE YOUNG"
This is a big, happy, original and tuneful British comedy starring John Mills (of Baby and Battleship fame) and Cecil Parker. Full of family appeal. This is a film to captivate audiences everywhere with its light-hearted zest and gaiety, so laugh, be happy "It's Great to Be Young". It is in technicolor, too. John Mills is a high school teacher who specializes in the three Bs—Bach, Beethoven and barrel house blues.

If it's worth writing home about... use a
Sheaffer Skripriter
When it's vacation time and you're headed for fun, take along a Sheaffer Skripriter Ballpoint. Just touch pen to paper and your postcard message, note or letter seems to flow. That's because your Skripriter has the only ballpoint tip made of Sterling Silver . . . it's the only ballpoint that's filled with famous SKRIP writing fluid. That's why it starts instantly—writes smoother, easier—and up to five times longer than even double unit cartridges. Tuck a Sheaffer Skripriter in your pocket or purse before you head for vacationland.
the only ballpoint tip made of Sterling Silver
IN YOUR CHOICE OF SIX BEAUTIFUL COLOURS.

SEC Charges Manipulation By Financier

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks came back from their lows today after another small decline in a market spiced by manipulation charges against a well-known financier.

The Securities and Exchange Commission charged that Louis E. Wolfson manipulated shares of American Motors for his own profit, an action that is punishable by a jail term and a big fine under the nation's securities laws.

Last Friday Wolfson's office said he had sold 100,000 of his toal holding of 400,000 shares, and would liquidate the rest. That announcement depressed prices until this morning when the issue turned up.

The reason for the improvement was a federal court temporary injunction restraining Wolfson from trading in the stock. The Securities and Exchange Commission charged Wolfson not only had sold all his stock before last Friday's announcement but had gone short on 100,000 shares in the hope it would come down so he could repurchase it at a lower price.

The commission charged Wolfson's reported selling Friday depressed the stock and permitted him to buy it against his short position at a profit.

Through most of the day the market lacked luster except for American Motors. Then in the last half hour demand developed for Richfield Oil which ran up more than 3 points and Union Oil of California up more than 2. Chrysler led the top-ranking motors with a rise of more than a point, most of which was held.

Other sections of the list came back from their lows which had shown losses ranging to a point or more. Railroad issues, an exception, met no support and were lower on fears the house would squeeze out most of the tax relief voted recently by the senate.

Base Metals Weaken

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market suffered its fifth straight setback.

Brokers said one encouraging aspect of the decline was the fact that trading was light.

Industrial losses ranged to 2⅛ points with Ford A, Trans Mountain Pipe Line, Loblaw Inc., Weston A and B, and Union Gas among the heavier losers. McColl added ⅛ at 59¼.

Senior base metals were led down by International Nickel, Hudson Bay, Normanda, Falconbridge and Steep Rock.

"Heavies" Take Drop

MONTREAL (CP)—The market was weaker at the close of moderately active trading.

In the van of the losers were the heavy industrials. International Nickel dropped 1¼, Hudson Bay lost 1¾ at 44¾, Norandra was down 1⅜ and Stelco fell off 1½.

Substantial losses in the miscellaneous group included B.C. Forest at 10, a loss of one point, Price Brothers, down 1⅜, and Trans mountain at 48½, a loss of 2⅜ points.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP) — Prices drifted lower in most sections of the London stock market.

Gilt-edged securities were marked down and there was little demand for foreign bonds.

South African golds improved on selected demand. Tension in the Middle was a factor in some losses of oil shares.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Unfavorable crop reports continued to stimulate buying in all grains.

Moisture in the grain belt was light. Reports of frost also prompted some buying interest.

Flax was fairly active, with the October and December contracts reaching new seasonal highs. Buying came from exporters and international interests. Offerings were light and well absorbed. All months closed higher. Trade reports indicated parcel 2 lot sales of flax to Japan, and the sale of 80,000 bushels to Portugal.

Canada on Wall Street:

Dollar Rises, Bonds Slump

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Canada's running into new debts has certainly not lessened the value of the Canadian dollar, which rose to a premium of over 4 per cent in New York yesterday, but it has had a profound effect on the value of government securities.

Since Finance Minister Fleming last week announced that he required $3,400,000,000 in the current fiscal year for refunding and new capital expenditure, Canadian bonds have dropped more than two points.

The weekly bond market summary published by James Richardson & Sons is surprised. "Everyone expected the minister to announce deficit financing," it says.

The summary admits that the $1,400,000,000 of new money, plus $2,000,000,000 of refunding is a large sum, but it does not think it should cause any concern as to the national debt itself.

"As of March 31, 1958, the national debt was $2,000,000,000 less than it was 10 years ago, and with the increase in population during that period, the per capita debt is correspondingly lower."

BANKER SEES UPSWING

Defying traditional banker's caution, J. R. Beattie, deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, says there are definite signs the recession has reached its lowest point.

Mr. Beattie, attending a meeting of the Development Bank in Saint John, based his argument on recent improvement in employment and increased production.

"It is reasonably safe to say that the Canadian economy is about to go back on the upswing," he said.

The employment figures to which Mr. Beattie referred were those for the month ending May 24. These showed employment to be 5,655,000 against 5,453,000 a month earlier and 5,687,000 in May, 1957.

The actual number of unemployed dropped to 366,000 from the high of 516,000.

CAR PROOF MISSING

Minister of Trade Gordon Churchill said in the commons yesterday he had been unable to find any "direct proof" that an American automobile firm had influenced its Canadian subsidiary to cancel an order for 1,000 cars because they were bound for Red China.

Island Living Has Its Price

People who live on an Island must expect to pay a little more for some services than residents of a mainland, Hugh Stephen, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, warned last night.

He was commenting on the provincial government's action in assuming control of Black Ball ferries to prevent a strike by employees [illegible] yesterday.

Mr. Stephen pointed out the government's action did not settle the dispute and a settlement might force the company to raise its rates. [illegible] passage in the world," he said.

Mr. Stephen congratulated the provincial government on its courage in stepping in to prevent the strike and the company and unions for agreeing with the move.

Ottawa Strike Action Demanded by Bennett

Carpet Covered Her Keepsake

Case of the missing ring—unsolved for four years—ended happily this week when Mrs. Norman Fliteroft, 2961 Donald, found the prized piece of jewelry under her living room carpet. The valuable ring, bequeathed by a life-long friend, vanished in 1954 and Mrs. Fliteroft notified police after a frantic search failed to turn up any clue. She still doesn't know how the ring got under the carpet and escaped detection.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

'People Expect Action'

Premier Bennett yesterday demanded action from Ottawa to end the five-week-old seamen's strike which has tied up the CPR coast steamship service to and from Vancouver Island.

"Ottawa has a responsibility to act," he declared.

The premier, whose government has won plaudits for the successful and swift way it averted a similar close-down of Black Ball Ferries Monday, was commenting on a statement by Victoria Conservative MP A. deB. McPhillips.

NO ACTION NEEDED

Mr. McPhillips said there was no need for Ottawa to do anything about the CPR situation now that the provincial government had prevented a Black Ball strike by seizing the company under provisions of the Civil Defence Act.

The premier flayed the federal government for its lack of action.

"It's all right for them to send a private member here but they should have sent a minister of the crown," he said. "The people of B.C. expect action from the national government. But this is the price we have to pay for being so far removed from Ottawa in mental approach as well as geography."

NO PROBLEM

Premier Bennett said if the CPR strike had been settled the Black Ball problem would not have occurred.

The provincial government will be in control of the Black Ball operations until a settlement is reached between the company and unions seeking a wage increase.

Ottawa should "take more interest" in the Pacific Coast, Premier Bennett said, and it was well past the time "for the federal government to act."

DO IT SHORTLY

In view of the provincial government action, he added, he felt Ottawa would do something about the CPR situation shortly.

"And that will also bring a settlement to Black Ball," a reporter asked.

"Yes," replied the premier.

He was non-committal when asked if he thought there was a possibility that the government might be left holding the bag and have to run the Black Ball ships permanently.

"We don't run over bridges until we come to them," he said.

KEEPS MUM

He also refused to say whether he recommended that Ottawa follow the provincial government lead to take over the CPR fleet.

Meanwhile Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said he felt the government would not have to operate the Black Ball ferries for long.

"I think we're well on the way to a settlement," said the minister. "But the crux to the whole thing is the CPR."

The government's move was praised by nearly everyone from all quarters yesterday—Chamber of Commerce spokesmen, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan, and municipal officials.

The Black Ball ferries Chinook and Kahloke continued to make 12 round trips a day between the mainland and Nanaimo, keeping open the last remaining link by sea between Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland.

Sought by Oak Bay Conservatives

Judicial Arbitration

A resolution calling for binding judicial arbitration of labor disputes affecting essential public services was last night approved by Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association.

The resolution was part of a four-clause resolution which the association approved for submission to the [illegible] convention to be held in September.

Other clauses called for:

WITHIN 48 HOURS

That it become law that members of any union voting affirmatively to strike, be on strike within 48 hours or the vote be rendered void.

That all unions be required to file annual public financial statements and that unions be accountable for damages when a charge of conspiracy or intent to damage is proven.

JUST AS OPPOSED

That the party go on record as being just as opposed to excessive demands by unions to the public detriment as it is to unreasonable monopolistic actions of big business.

The preamble to a five-point resolution charged in part that Health Minister Eric Martin "appears to be sympathetic to the breakdown of high medical standards." The resolution was:

That the party is unalterably opposed to state medicine and to further control by politicians of the medical profession by state insurance or other means.

BETTER SALARIES

That the party favors rapid expansion of mental health facilities and better salaries for personnel to encourage a high level of mental care.

That the party favors immediate expansion of hospital insurance to provide for the care of chronically ill persons.

That the association favors adoption of a high nursing home standard with adequate professional staff and rigid checks.

That the party favors encouragement of high medical professional standards and the discouragement of all forms of medical quackery.

Other resolutions approved for submission to the resolutions committee of the provincial convention for consideration included:

Overhaul of the municipal property assessment system, overhaul of the five per cent sales tax structure, support for private enterprise in the field of public power, opposition to the damming of the Fraser until proof that there will be no damage to the salmon, and a suggestion that Chief Justice Sloan should be appointed as chairman of a three-man forestry advisory committee.

Jaycees Seek Girls For Other Jaycees

Victoria Jaycees are looking for 45 girls from 21 to 40—for other Jaycees.

The girls are required as partners at social functions for visiting Jaycees in town June 29, 30, July 1 and 2 for the national Jaycee convention to be held in Victoria for the first time.

About 30 girls have already registered with the Jaycees, through either 9-5301 or 3-4521.

Fatherless Family Fund Given $1,770

Greater Victoria citizens late yesterday had donated $1,770 to a fund for a family left without father and without home by a swift fire early Sunday.

Mrs. Helen Beeckman and her four small children are still quartered in a Gorge Road auto court. Alec Beeckman, 43, died in the fire.

Throughout Sunday and Monday neighbors and others donated more than enough clothing for the family, as well as furniture and kitchen equipment.

Yesterday, they continued to swell a special fund started by a local radio station and now administered by Saanich Acting Reeve George Austin and welfare officer Frank Heaton.

Garbage Won't Come Back

Dumped at Mud Bay, Covered with Earth

★ ★ ★

Victoria has got rid of one of its most bothersome and long-standing problems.

Garbage—or at any rate Victoria's own garbage—will never again litter its beaches.

Victoria garbage is no longer being dumped at sea but is being used as earth-covered fill at Mud Bay, a small, steep-banked bay on the Songhees industrial reserve south of the E. & N. Railway yards separated from the harbor by a high rock wall across its mouth.

HIGHLAND DUMP

The garbage will be used there for about six months, creating new industrial land, and [illegible] will be complete for [illegible] of the new system of having it trucked away and dumped at a private fill site in the Highland district by a contractor.

At Mud Bay the garbage is being used as fill to the advantage of the city and Island Tug & Barge Ltd. The company, which for many years has towed the city garbage to sea, holds the Mud Bay property and is developing it for its own future use. [illegible] besides getting rid of the floating garbage problem, [illegible] money on the towing contract.

OUT OF SIGHT

Far from residential property, the [illegible] operation [illegible] completely covered [illegible] with earth [illegible] it is working very satisfactorily [illegible] we have reached the end of garbage drifting back on the beaches," Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday.

City Engineer James C. Garnett said the fill was working out "remarkably well."

NO HITCHES

"It has gone without any hitches at all right from the start," he said. "There have been no problems and no complaints."

Mr. Garnett said he anticipated the Mud Bay work would last about six months, during which time we will construct the new exchange point for transferring garbage from city trucks to contractor's trailers and be ready to go ahead with the [illegible] scheme."

Fair Blitz Seeks $13,500

DUNCAN—A one-night blitz to raise $13,500 necessary to save the Cowichan Exhibition from extinction will be staged July 18 by a special canvass committee, it was decided.

A drive for $25,000 carried out from June 1 to 19 raised $11,500.

Ald. John J. Kerrone, appointed chairman of a new and expanded canvass committee, called a series of special meetings to get the special canvass started.

The committee is seeking now to raise the remainder of the $25,000 necessary to make possible establishment of the fair on new property adjoining Pioneer Park. On the special canvass committee are Mayor J. T. Dobson, Archie Stevenson, president of the Cowichan Exhibition; Ernie Paulding, representing Rotary; Pete Henry, Kinsmen; Wal Dobson, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Bert Evans.

COURTENAY—A preliminary hearing of a criminal negligence charge against David Paetkau, 32, arising from the traffic death last Wednesday of 13-year-old Rosemary May, opened Tuesday and was adjourned until July 11 after two witnesses were heard.

Allan Dunbar, whose class the girl attended, and his wife were the only ones to give evidence. They are leaving to live in Scotland.

Dunbar testified that he looked up from a nearby lawn to see the girl "flying in a back somersault along the top of a passing car." The teacher said he found the girl lying on the opposite side of the road.

Mrs. Dunbar said she noticed Rosemary pedalling her bike slowly on the right-hand side of the road. "Seconds later I heard a most dreadful crash."

NANAIMO—Nanaimo will vote July 24 on the long-awaited sewer bylaw. Ald. Haig Burns told city council as he introduced the $2,450,000 measure. He described it as "without question one of the most important in the progress of the city."

COURTENAY—B.C.'s Century Sam, Sid Williams of Courtenay, has been named by provincial Eagles for the annual [illegible] service award. Besides being named as the 100-year-old centennial caricature, Ald. Williams was chosen for his 17 years of service on city council and his leadership in community recreation.

He has headed many service and welfare projects and supported many Vancouver Island activities as an entertainer and dramatist.

Ald. Williams has been president of the Courtenay Recreation Association since its inception 11 years ago and is chairman of the recreation commission.

Currently, he is touring the Interior and Fraser Valley points in his role of Century Sam, accompanied by his niece Rosie. In between he managed to slip home overnight to help decorate community floats for the July 1 parade.

PORT ALBERNI—The question of MacMillan & Bloedel's school tax payments will be submitted to the B.C. Supreme Court for a decision, Mayor Loran Jordon announced Monday after what he termed a joint agreement of city council and the company. The city seeks to bill the company on the assessed value of its property here while the firm says it is covered until 1965 by a fixed agreement.

★ ★ ★

KELOWNA—F. L. Hammer of Port Alberni was re-elected president here Tuesday of the B.C. Branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association.

Also re-elected were vice-president W. (Bill) Plumridge of Langley and secretary-treasurer A. F. Brownsey of Sooke. New executive member is Robert Conney of Duncan, staff office representative.

★ ★ ★

PORT ALBERNI—"Water hogs" were criticized by Mayor Loran Jordon at Monday night's meeting and council gave the city superintendent authority to hire patrols to check on breaches of sprinkling regulations.

CAMPBELL RIVER—A broken left arm, wrist and collar bone was suffered by 17-year-old Shannon [illegible], a student of Campbell River High School, when his motorcycle went out of control.

NANAIMO—Third conviction in three years for a driving offence drew a three-month licence suspension for Samuel [illegible] Stanko Monday.

Stanko protested the suspension imposed by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts, because he said he needed his licence to keep his employment as an apprentice welder.

The court referred to two previous convictions, one in 1956 and one in 1957 for careless driving. Yesterday Stanko pleaded guilty of failing to yield right of way. His action caused a collision with damage amounting to nearly $300.

★ ★ ★

PORT ALBERNI—The city works department has taken over where a contracting firm left off and will complete the laying of Lupsikupsi sewer main.

The job was abandoned by Craig and Ralston Ltd. which ran into difficulty on tide flats across the Somass River. Officials of the company contended that pipe specified for the work was impossible to lay under the conditions in the area.

FAVOUR

WHEN the housewife calls at the grocery store and orders a supply of provisions, she is not asking a favour ... she is buying goods for which she will pay cash ... purely a matter of business.

So with your bank. It is a business proposition just as much as the grocery store.

The grocer deals in groceries ... the banker deals in credit. And, as the making of loans is the principal way by which his bank derives its revenue, he is as anxious to sell his credit as the grocer is to sell his groceries. And, like the grocer, the banker naturally wants to know that he is going to be paid for his goods ... that his loans will be met when they fall due. That, too, is only good business.

When you have occasion to ask for a loan, look at it this way. Come to the Bank, not feeling that you have to ask a favour, but to offer the manager a sound business proposition which will be of profit both to you and to his institution.

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for acts of kindness, messages and floral offerings received from our many relatives and friends in our sad bereavement in the loss of our loving father and grandfather, Thomas McGlaw [illegible] thanks to Dr. Newby and staff at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Rev. Carr and McCall's Funeral Chapel. Isabel, Charlie, Peggy and Jennie.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the many friends who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement in the loss of our mother, Sarah Ann McKenzie, and for the beautiful floral offerings. (Her four sons.)

9 IN MEMORIAM

HARKNETT—In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Harknett, who passed away June 25, 1957.
Gone from us but not forgotten,
Never shall thy memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever linger
Around the spot where thou art laid.
—Ever remembered by her loving husband George and family.

March on Ottawa

Jobless Urge 3-Point Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—An Ontario-Quebec delegation of unemployed yesterday called on the federal government to take tariff, tax and trade action to provide more jobs.

The delegation proposed:

1. Intensified efforts to move Canada's wheat surplus to boost the farm economy and thus provide a wider market for the products of farm implement plants.

2. Taxing the automobile industry on its profits rather than on the product, to increase sales.

3. An investigation into the volume of small cars entering Canada from Europe with a view to encouraging their manufacturers to locate production plants in Canada.

The delegation started out from Windsor and Montreal by motorcade and picked up groups at Chatham, London, Woodstock, Brantford, Hamilton and Toronto.

George Burt of Windsor, Canadian director of the 75,000-member United Automobile Workers Union and a general vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, was chief spokesman for the delegation in a meeting with cabinet ministers.

In a statement to the ministers, Mr. Burt suggested an "imaginative" trade policy for moving wheat that would include long-term credits to enable such areas as India, Asia and Africa to buy Canadian grain.

Girl Cyclist Hurt in Crash

Lynn Cooper, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Cooper, 960 Lyall, suffered head injuries at 3.20 p.m. Monday in a car-bicycle collision at Lampson and Esquimalt Roads.

Police said the car was driven by David Laggin, 2229 Sooke Road.

St. Joseph's Hospital authorities said the girl's condition was fairly good.

New Parole System

Leave Tickets Doomed

OTTAWA (CP)—The government gave notice Monday of legislation to establish a new national parole board. The board would replace the present system of tickets of leave in the remission of prison sentences.

The new legislation, not yet disclosed by the government, is expected to follow closely the recommendation a couple of years ago by the Fauteux committee on remissions.

The committee, headed by Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada, recommended a five-man parole board with exclusive jurisdiction over paroles for all persons convicted under the Criminal Code.

The caleche, a popular conveyance in early French Canada, is a two-wheeled, one-seated vehicle with another seat for the driver.

Oak Bay Park Lot Weedy

A proposed park site bounded by Nottingham, Dover and Devon in Oak Bay has become a weed patch, a householder complained in a letter read at Oak Bay council meeting Monday night.

"The weeds from this piece of land are blowing on our gardens and completely undoing the work of householders to keep their property neat and clean," R. A. Lawrie, 2625 Lansdowne, said in his letter.

Council authorized the municipal engineer to use weed-killer on the property as an alternative to the suggested plan of planting the property to grass.

Outstanding Citizenship Rewarded

A special citizenship ceremony honoring men and women who have given outstanding service to the community will be held Sunday at Belmont Park.

Citizenship scrolls will be presented to the group by Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner at the centennial-year ceremony in front of John Hobbs Memorial School starting at 2 p.m.

The Citizenship Day program was organized by the Belmont Park centennial committee as a centennial-year feature.

Names on the honor list were chosen by a panel of judges made up of representatives of the various organizations in the area.

Scheduled to receive scrolls are Mrs. Edna Martin, Mrs. Muriel Armitage, Mrs. Anna Neilson, Mrs. Dorothy Rule, Harry Silvester, Mrs. Elsie Aubrey, Mrs. Jeanette Ackerman and Robert Renton.

Baby Stolen? Nonsense, Says Mother

EDMONTON (CP) — Mrs. Irene Butsch, 27, of Vancouver said here that reports from Vancouver that her baby had been taken by a baby sitter were "nonsense."

The Vancouver report said a year-old boy was taken from his home Friday night by the sitter but was later found to be safe with relatives of the sitter in Edmonton.

Mrs. Butsch said she was the sitter referred to in the Vancouver report and that the child was her own.

The mother said she came here with the child to stay with an uncle following a quarrel with her husband and mother-in-law.

The husband and mother-in-law were to drive to Edmonton to fetch the mother and child, but later decided against making the trip.

University Equivalent For Cadets

Cadets at Royal Roads who go on to graduate from Royal Military College at Kingston will in future receive bachelor's degree comparable with those granted by universities.

The degrees will be available in arts and science, according to an announcement by Planning Minister W. M. Nicole of Ontario.

Until now, graduates of the college have had to spend one year of study at a university to obtain a degree.

RMC is the gradnating institution for Royal Roads and College Militaire Royal de St. Jean, St. Johns, Que., as well as for its own cadets.

Victorians Return With Spoils

Modern-day Vikings from Victoria came home with spoils won at a Sons of Norway, District 2, convention in Tacoma last weekend.

The Leikar Ring dance team from the Victoria branch of the Sons of Norway won the two-year folk dancing trophy for the second time in succession and a Victoria team also won the district "mail match" 10-pin bowling championship.

Knut A. Moeskau, 117 Superior, president of the Victoria branch, was re-elected a director of the Pacific Northwest district.

More than 100 delegates from northwestern states, Alaska and British Columbia attended.

'Did It for My Baby' —Woman Shoplifter

A young woman who said she was "awfully sorry—I only did it for my baby," was given a suspended sentence in city police court yesterday for theft of an infant's shirt from a downtown store.

Plea of guilty was entered by Thelma Isabel Milne. Owner of the store said he observed her drop the article in a shopping bag and leave without paying for it.

"I'm awfully sorry I did it," accused told Magistrate Henry C. Hall. "It was for my baby. I'd like another chance."

She was placed under bond of $500 to be of good behavior for six months.

Three-year-old Murray Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royce H. Johnson, 2583 Fernwood, was in somewhat improved condition at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday.

The child suffered head injuries last Wednesday when, while chasing a kitten across Glanford Avenue, he ran into the path of a car.

* * *

No one had to telephone for the police following a collision in Oak Bay at noon yesterday. A police car was one of the vehicles involved.

No one was hurt, but damage to the two vehicles was estimated at about $1,000.

Involved in the crash, at Eastdowne and Allenby, were cars driven by Oak Bay Const. O. B. Duckmanton and by Nestor P. Melnyk, 230 Henry.

A display of artistic flower arrangements at the Victoria Horticultural Society's summer flower show Friday and Saturday will be judged by the public.

Trophy for the contest will be a vase. Some 13 other trophies are offered in the rose classes and the Greater Victoria centennial committee will provide special silk ribbons and rosettes.

Other judges appointed by the society:

Roses, W. E. A. Carclay and Fred Parker of Westholme; artistic flower arrangements, Mrs. Keith Wiles of Vancouver and Mrs. J. W. McAree; sweet peas, begonias and miscellaneous summer flowers, Mrs. E. W. Carey and J. Townsend; succulents and cacti, Mrs. Hilda Beastall; African violets, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merilee; fruit and vegetables, E. W. White.

Entries for the show, to be held in the Crystal Garden, close Wednesday with the secretary of the society, George A. Wiggan, 1810 Ferndale Road, telephone 7-3265.

Town planner Alfred A. Staples, of 975-B Fairfield Road, has been awarded a bachelor of architecture degree by the University of Oregon.

The announcement was made at the university's 80th annual commencement exercises as nearly 1,500 received degrees.

Mr. Staples is with the municipal affairs department's regional planning board, Victoria.

Former Victoria resident Douglas Shadbolt, now in Boston, Mass., also received the bachelor of architecture degree from the Oregon university.

Inca Gold Their Target

TARZWELL, Ont. — Vic Harman, a 40-year-old motel owner, says he and his brother William, 41, may find $200,000,000 in buried treasure hidden in the fabulous "money pit" of Oak Island, N.S., by mid-July. "There's no doubt in my mind that the Incas of South America buried on Oak Island what they could salvage of their gold and valuables after the raids of the Spanish in the 1600s," he said.

TRADE FLOW CHANGING

Canada's trade deficit in May dropped to $2,500,000 from $108,700,00 in May 1957. Government statistics announced yesterday that imports from the U.S. dropped 15 per cent during the month from $394,600,000 to $333,300,000 while Canadian exports to the U.S. fell by a lesser amount from $266,800,000 to $248,100,000.

On the other hand trade with the U.K. increased. British purchases in May rose to $81,500,000 from $68,800,000 a year ago, and Canadian imports from Britain were $55,500,000 from $50,700,000 last May.

The figures indicate that Prime Minister Diefenbaker's aim to transfer much of Canada's trade from the United States to Britain is taking root.

'Lost' Troller Found Safe

A New Westminster fisherman, who was the object of a radio alert by the RCAF Air Sea-Rescue Centre in Vancouver when he was not located for 10 days, was found Monday morning safely moored at Bamfield on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Reginald Banks, in his troller the Star King, had stocked provisions in Victoria.

Pavement Grows On Canada Route

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trans-Canada Highway project, begun in 1950, now has paved highway along 3,036 miles of its 4,327-mile route, according to a progress report tabled by Works Minister Green.

But only 1,707 miles of that road has been paved since the project began, he rest is provincial highway built previously.

British Columbia, under the agreement, has finished paving 262 miles of its 568-mile route.

'Rockathon' Ends in Tie

WELLAND, Ont. — The Welland Richelieu Club's rocking chair marathon ended after daylight Monday when the last two survivors from 34 starters agreed to quit simultaneously and split the first and second prizes. Gerard Massie, 23, and Richard Laneuville, 20, set what is claimed to be a record by hanging on for 93 hours, 13 minutes.

U.K. A-Power Plants To Make Plutonium

LONDON (UPI)—Britain has announced that three of her planned atomic power plants will produce plutonium for military purposes. Commons was told the decision was made "in order to provide our country, at a comparatively small cost, with the most valuable insurance against possible future defence requirements."

NOTICE

Stringing of power lines across Montague Harbour between Parker Island and Galiano Island adjacent to the existing power line crossing, will begin Thursday, June 12th, and will be completed by Wednesday, June 25, 1958.

Montague Harbour at the point of the crossing will not be navigable during the operation. Mariners and aircraft please use caution.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Gone for a Picnic? Not Us!

We'd love to be able to take the day off and drive Up-Island with the wife and kids, but we can't!

We're staying down town, keeping shop all day Wednesday because our customers want it that way and they come FIRST!

And besides, it's COOL at the BAY—we're just about the COOLEST store in town to shop in so we don't mind seeing that none of our customers is disappointed.

There are several reasons why the BAY thinks that the 6-Day Shopping Week serves the community best:

1. It's a big convenience to customers no matter what their employment.
2. It creates extra employment, extra sales and keeps prices down.
3. It gives the staff 2 full days off a week and extra shopping time.
4. It gives out-of-town customers more opportunity to plan shopping trips to town.
